'Unfortunate,' U. S. Says as France Officially Recognizes Red China

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department today called France's recognition of Communist China "an unfortunate step" and reaffirmed its intention to stand by the Nationalist Chinese regime on Formosa.

A brief statement issued here said that the United States "regrets" the French step and has "repeatedly expressed" this view to the government of French President Charles de Gaulle.

The statement said this was particularly so "at a time when the Chinese Communists are actively promoting aggression and subversion in Southeast Asia and elsewhere."

The United States will stand firmly by its commitments to the government of the Republic of China as well as all other countries in our common endeavor to prevent and deter aggression and to promote the interests of peace.

By JOSEPH E. DYMAN
PARIS (AP) — France officially recognized the Communist Chinese regime in Peking today.

Peking radio made a similar announcement.

The French announcement said the two governments had agreed to establish diplomatic relations and to exchange ambassadors.

There was no immediate indication of how this step would affect the ties between France and the Nationalist Chinese regime of President Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa.

French officials previously had said that Peking had not demanded that France break relations with Chiang as a condition for diplomatic ties, and the assumption was that France could therefore maintain relations with both regimes.

This is called the "two-Chinas" policy, which both the Communists and the Nationalists have heretofore steadfastly opposed. Each claims to be the sole true representative of China.

The Nationalists have threatened to sever relations with France although the United States has counseled Chiang not to break with France.

Peking radio said France and Red China have agreed to appoint ambassadors to each other within three months.

There was no immediate comment from U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, in Tokyo for a conference of U.S. and Japanese Cabinet officials. An American source said any U.S.

Scores Arrested In Atlanta, Ga. Demonstrations

By HEDLEY BURRELL
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Day-long racial demonstrations in downtown Atlanta resulted in the arrest of scores of persons in the wake of an inspection tour of a United Nations antidiscrimination group.

At least seven were injured in the demonstrations which flared anew Sunday night. A Negro trusty suffered a broken leg when he was involved in scuffling among demonstrators at the city jail.

A policeman, H. A. Wagner, suffered a head injury when he was pushed to the pavement as Negroes attempted to enter an integrated restaurant.

The restaurant, Le's, has

British Keep Peace in East Africa

By DENNIS NEELD
NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — British troops kept peace in restive East Africa today after disarming mutinous native soldiers in the young Commonwealth nations of Kenya, Tanganyika and Uganda.

A spokesman at the British East Africa Command post in Nairobi said no evidence has been found to indicate the mutineers were part of an over-all rebellion, but investigations were continuing.

The mutineers in Kenya, Tanganyika and Uganda were all former members of the Queen's African Rifles who had served under the British flag until the three territories gained independence. After independence, some British officers remained at the three government's request to train and command the troops. The mutineers stemmed from demands for removal of

McNamara Tells Congress Missiles Are Dependable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told Congress today that he has "no hesitation whatever" about the dependability of U.S. missiles.

The defense chief's testimony to the House Armed Services Committee was, in effect, a reply to questions raised about missile dependability by Sen. Barry Goldwater, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

In a recent campaign statement in New Hampshire, Goldwater said long-range missiles were not dependable and expressed concern about the

Rockets Are Detected by Satellites

By VERN HAUGLAND
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson disclosed today that two U.S. military spy-in-the-sky satellites have succeeded in detecting a number of intercontinental ballistic missile launches, both from Florida and from California.

The satellites successfully detected launches not only of liquid fuel ICBMs—the huge Titan and Atlas boosters—but of the much more compact and swift-climbing, solid-fueled Minuteman ICBMs, Johnson said.

Using secret infrared heat-seeking devices, the orbiting spy satellites sent into orbit in 1963 were able to detect ICBM launches from Cape Kennedy, Fla., and Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

President Johnson's disclosure made it clear that the Defense Department aims to develop a space-based attack alarm system that would "maintain continuous surveillance over ballistic missile launches on a global basis."

The President's report said the ICBM alarm system would consist of unmanned satellites carrying infrared sensors which can detect ballistic missiles in powered flights as they emerge from the atmosphere.

Disclosure of last year's detection was in a 150-page summary of 1963 space accomplishments of civilian and military government agencies involved in space work.

There was no information as to the launching dates or major characteristics of the satellites.

U.S. Missionary Killed by Congo Red Guerrillas

By ROBIN MANNOCK
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — An American woman missionary has been killed and another wounded by rebels waging war on Christian missions and the central Congo government in the southwest Congo province of Kwilu.

The central government said it had documentary proof the rebels, led by former Education Minister Pierre Mulele, are supported by Red China.

The government declared a state of emergency in Kwilu Province and rushed 450 soldiers into the region. It said important measures would be taken, "the nature of which will be revealed at an opportune moment."

Irene Ferrel, 43, of Eagle Butte, S.D., was reported killed by a rebel's arrow during a raid on a Baptist mission at the village of Mangungu, 300 miles southeast of Leopoldville.

The Congo Inland Missionary in Leopoldville reported that Ruth Hege, 58, of Wellington, Ohio, also attached to the Mangungu station, was wounded. Latest reports indicated she was still in the area.

The guerrillas killed three Roman Catholic priests last week. Seven American missionaries and two children were removed by U.N. helicopters Friday from Kande, in southern Kwilu, after guerrillas burned their station.

The Rev. Peter Butler of Mountain Lake, Minn., who fled with his wife and two children from their mission 20 miles northwest of Mangungu, said he spotted Miss Ferrel signaling for help last Wednesday when he flew over her mission. She could only be reached from the

Jaycees Name 10 Outstanding Men of Nation

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — The U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce has named 10 men as the outstanding young men of 1963.

U.S. Sen. Birch E. Bayh Jr., 35, of Terre Haute, Ind.; Dr. Zbigniew K. Brzezinski, 35, Englewood, N.J., a Communist affairs expert; John Mack Carter, 35, New York, editor of McCall's magazine; Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, 35, Detroit; U.S. Rep. Edgar F. Foreman Jr., 30, Odessa, Tex.

Also U.S. Judge A. Leon Higginbotham Jr., 35, Philadelphia; Thomas S. Mackey, 33, Texas City, Tex., general manager of the world's largest tin smelter; George Stevens Jr., 31, Washington, D.C., film producer-director; James W. Whitaker, 34, Seattle, Wash., who climbed Mt. Everest; and Ted Yates, 33, Washington, D.C., television producer.

Each of the honorees was presented a trophy bearing the inscription: "The hope of mankind lies in the hands of youth and action."

The honors were presented Saturday night at the climax of the organization's two-day meeting here.

Associated Grocers to Hold Convention

The 29th annual Associated Grocers convention will open here Sunday at the Broadmoor Hotel.

Fred S. Fishburn, executive vice president and general manager, Denver, said 3,000 persons are expected to attend from the six-state area of Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico, Arizona, Kansas and Nebraska.

This will include owners of 707 member grocery stores, plus representatives from food manufacturers, brokers, suppliers and related industries.

General Motors Earns $1 1/2-Billion In Past Year

NEW YORK (AP) — General Motors Corp. in 1963 earned $1,592,000,000, a sum never before equaled in a calendar year by any corporation. Sales, likewise a record, totaled $16.5 billion, GM reported today.

In summarizing what in many ways was an unprecedented year in the automobile industry, General Motors also reported new high marks in car and truck production, payroll, dividends paid and profit per share of common stock.

The only earnings achievement approaching the GM 1963 figure was the $1,474,404,000 in net income reported by American Telephone and Telegraph Co. for the 12 months ended Nov. 30. AT&T has not yet given its figures for calendar 1963.

In 1962, General Motors, the world's largest manufacturing concern, set its previous high of $1,459,000,000 in net profits and $14.6 billion in sales.

Dry and Clear Weather Noted In Most of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There were wet spots in scattered areas but generally dry and clear weather prevailed in the major part of the nation today.

Arctic air centered in sections of the Dakotas and Minnesota, dropping temperatures below zero. The freezing line extended from the central and northern plateau regions eastward through New England.

The cold air headed east and southward and was expected to extend to Oklahoma and through Wisconsin, Indiana and Kentucky by tonight. Low marks in the cold belt included below zero in International Falls, Minn., and Jamestown, N.D. The mercury was near that mark in several other North Dakota cities.

The icy air moved across the border from southern Saskatchewan where temperatures were more than 30 degrees below zero.

Temperatures in most other parts of the nation were near or above seasonal levels.

Snow flurries fell in the eastern Dakotas eastward across the northern Great Lakes region and the northern Appalachians. Light snow was reported in northern Colorado while light rain splashed areas along the Southern California coast, western Washington and the southern coast of Texas.

Scout Plunges To His Death From Ledge

COCHITI, N.M. (AP) — Roger Reed, 15, plunged 100 feet to his death Sunday when a narrow mountain ledge gave way as he and two companions were returning from a hike to their Boy Scout camp by a short cut.

Peter Claassen, 13, and George Bennett, 11, clung to the remaining ledge five hours before being lifted to safety by a helicopter from Kirtland Air Force Base at Albuquerque.

The scouts were among 10 members of Albuquerque Troop 841 on a weekend campout in the mountains 10 miles west of this Indian pueblo. The accident occurred less than an hour before the boys were to break camp and return home.

Viet Nam War Is Going Badly, Congress Told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara grimly reported to Congress today that the anti-Communist cause in the war in South Viet Nam has deteriorated since the overthrow of the Diem government in November. The Communists have made "considerable progress," he said.

The Pentagon chief said the United States must continue to maintain powerful military forces and demonstrate willingness to risk their use despite

LBJ Proposes Federal Aid for Local Schools, Streets, Utility Projects

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed a "helping hand" today to fast-growing suburban communities swamped by demands for "new classrooms, uncounted miles of new streets and utility lines, and an unprecedented volume of water and sewerage facilities."

He asked Congress to provide federal grants and loans to local governments and private developers so that future expansion won't be carried out, as it often has in the past, "in a sprawling, space-consuming, unplanned and uneconomic way."

This was the major new proposal in the President's message to Congress on housing and community development, but he also had a few new wrinkles in the older, established

Zoo Curator Dies After Being Bitten by Snake

By PHIL KEIF
SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The City Zoo's curator, Jerry de Bary, 37, died today after hours of agony from the bite of a deadly African snake.

De Bary, bitten Saturday night when he suffered a dizzy spell while cleaning the puff adder's cage, died at 6:30 a.m. after a day and a half of what friends said was excruciating pain.

The venom attacks the nervous system, causing muscle spasm and paralysis. De Bary's heart stopped temporarily more than once. Breathing was nearly impossible at times. A resuscitator had to be used and an opening was made in De Bary's windpipe to help him breathe.

Puff adder snake serum was flown by Navy jet from the San Diego, Calif., Zoo. More was ordered from Southern Rhodesia. The puff adder is a native of South Africa and that's where the serum is made.

The serum from South Africa was ordered by Sister Mary Gerald, superior at Salt Lake City's Holy Cross Hospital, where De Bary was treated. Sister Mary telephoned a sister, Mrs. Peggy Forrester, in Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, for the serum.

But De Bary, a native of Switzerland, died before it arrived.

As far as could be determined De Bary was the only person ever bitten by the puff adder in the United States.

Marlin Perkins, director of the St. Louis Zoo, was bitten by a first cousin, the Gaboon

President's Message on Housing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here is a partial text of President Johnson's housing message to Congress today.

To the Congress of the United States:
Our nation stands today at the threshold of the greatest period of growth in its history.

By 1970, we shall have to build at least two million new homes a year to keep up with the growth of our population. We will need many new classrooms, uncounted miles of new streets and utility lines, and an unprecedented volume of water and sewerage facilities. We will need stores and churches and libraries, distribution systems for goods, transportation systems for people and communication systems for ideas.

Above all, we will need more land, new housing and orderly community development. For most of this population growth will be concentrated in the fringe areas around existing metropolitan communities.

I. HOUSING
Satisfaction with the 1-600,000 new housing starts in 1963 cannot obscure the fact that too many minorities, too many families of low income, too many rural families, and too many military families have not shared in the housing improvement which those units represent.

Unless we act and act now, the promises of the national housing policy will remain empty slogans to large numbers in these groups.

A. Housing for Minorities
Over a year ago, President Kennedy issued an executive order designed to assure opportunities for equal access to federally assisted housing. Already a half million dwelling units are—or soon will be—subject to that order. This administration will continue and strengthen its efforts to translate the pledge of that order into meaningful practice. The program proposed in this message will broaden the range of housing choices open and realistically available to those whom discrimination has too long restricted.

B. Housing for Low-income Families
For over a quarter of a century, the low-rent public housing program has been the primary source of additional decent housing for families of low income.

The 100,000 units of federally aided public housing authorized by the Housing Act of 1961 are now all committed. But still more communities and more families need such housing.

To continue this program for those who have no other effective opportunity for better housing, I recommend the authorization of 50,000 additional public housing units for each of the next four years.

Most of these units should continue to be new construction to provide a net expansion in the volume of housing available to low-income families. However, we have at this time a real opportunity to make low-rent housing available more quickly and at lower cost in many cities by acquiring units from the existing stock of private housing and rehabilitating them, where necessary, for the use of low-income families. I recommend amendments to the Public Housing Act to facilitate acquisition of existing housing units within the proposed 50,000 units per year.

In other cases, leasing of standard units by local public housing authorities for use in the low-rent program is a feasible and economic approach. I recommend, in addition, that the authority for expanding low-rent housing include authorization for local housing authorities to lease 40,000 housing units over the next four years.

We have much more to learn before the housing needs of our low-income population can be adequately met. The small demonstration program provided for this purpose in the Housing Act of 1961 has permitted a number of promising experiments to get under way. I recommend an additional $5 million be authorized to continue this program for at least one more year.

C. Housing for the Elderly
The expansion and improvement of public housing programs that I am recommending will be used extensively for lower-income elderly. Federal insurance of loans will continue to encourage the construction of specially designed housing for elderly with adequate incomes. However, the existing authority for funds to finance the program of low-interest direct federal loans which serves the moderate-income elderly will soon be exhausted. I recommend that the low-interest direct federal loan program for the elderly be extended and additional funds appropriated to permit loans of $100 million during the coming fiscal year.

At present, the successful program of moderate-income housing provided through loan insurance at below-market interest rates enacted in 1961 is limited to family tenants. In many cases, admission of single elderly persons to such housing would be highly desirable. I recommend that single elderly persons be made eligible for housing financed by federally insured below-market interest loans.

D. Rural Housing
The rural housing programs of the Department of Agriculture, initiated in 1949 and strengthened in 1961 and 1962, have made a good start... but the 20,000 rural families helped last year represent only a small fraction of the job to be done. Primary reliance on direct federal loans for this purpose, is, however, neither necessary nor—in the volume required—realistic.

I recommend extension of the expiring authorization in Title V of the Housing Act of 1949 to insure loans on rental housing for the rural elderly. Further, in order to accelerate the basic rural housing loan program, I urge that the Congress enact an insured rural housing loan program along the lines of that proposed by the administration in the first session of this Congress.

I further recommend early action on legislation along the lines of S. 981 to assist with the housing problems of domestic farm laborers—problems which are particularly acute for our 350,000 migrant farm workers.

E. Military Family Housing
While the Defense Department properly relies primarily upon the private community to supply the major portion of its needs for decent and economical housing, an annual construction program to house the families of military personnel is required in those communities where the severest chronic shortages exist. Accordingly, I have recommended in the military construction program authorizations and appropriations for 12,500 additional units for fiscal 1965 to meet the most critical needs.

F. Improvements in Other Housing Programs

(1)—To provide relief in those isolated cases in which, despite the care exercised by builders and the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration, substantial defects develop in new construction they have approved. I recommend that authority be provided for the FHA and the VA to finance the correction of substantial deficiencies.

(2)—To make certain that no legislative barriers exist to discourage or prevent mortgage lenders and the Federal Housing Administration from cooperating to help delinquent mortgagors in deserving cases. I recommend that FHA's claim and forbearance authorities be amended to encourage the temporary withholding of foreclosures against homeowners who default on their mortgages due to circumstances beyond their control.

(3)—To expand our concerted effort to substitute private credit for federal loans. I recommend provision of legislative authority for the pooling of mortgages held by the Federal National Mortgage Association and the administrator of veterans affairs, and the sale of participations in such pools.

III. URBAN RENEWAL

The Housing Act of 1961 doubled the previous urban renewal authorization to a total of $4 billion. By the middle of this year, all of that increase will have been committed. I recommend that an additional $1.4 billion of urban renewal funds be approved for a two-year period.

The vast majority of those displaced by urban renewal and public housing have relocated in better and standard housing, but some have not. For most, the cost of improved housing has been an unsought burden. For some, the inconvenience of displacement has meant only another slum dwelling and the likelihood of repeating this experience.

To assist further those families and persons least able to bear the burden of displacement, I recommend:

A. That an additional annual subsidy of up to $120 per unit be available for local public housing authorities, where needed to provide access to such housing for displaced persons with extremely low incomes.

B. That low- and moderate-income families displaced by urban renewal receive two-year supplemental relocation payments equal to the difference between rentals on standard housing in their communities and 20 per cent of their gross incomes.

C. That low-income single persons displaced by urban renewal or other public action be made eligible for public housing.

Similarly, small businessmen—especially those in leased premises—often incur economic loss and hardship as a result of displacement by urban renewal or public housing which is not offset by current compensation practices and moving expense reimbursements. To provide more adequately for these firms, I recommend authority for a separation payment of up to $2,500 for small establishments.

Elderly home-owners in urban renewal areas with low, fixed incomes are at a particular disadvantage in trying to meet the increased housing payments required by rehabilitation. To assist them, I recommend a program of federal insurance and purchase of low interest loans, with a deferral of amortization of principal, for home rehabilitation by elderly homeowners in urban renewal programs.

III. COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

The great expansion of our urban areas over the last two decades has too frequently been carried out in a sprawling, space-consuming unplanned and uneconomic way. All levels of government are spending vast sums to accommodate this tremendous urban growth with highways, sewer and water facilities, schools, hospitals and other community facilities. Rural communities and small towns face similar pressures. If the taxpayer's dollar is to be wisely used and our communities are to be desirable places in which to live, we must assure ourselves that future growth takes place in a more orderly fashion.

I recommend that the urban planning assistance program and the open space program administered by the Housing and Home Finance Agency be extended.

The pioneering efforts of progressive and imaginative private developers in planning totally new and complete communities indicate some of the exciting possibilities for orderly growth. In the tradition of the long-established partnership between private industry and government in housing and community development, the federal government should encourage and facilitate these new and desirable approaches.

Such a partnership can help achieve the orderly accommodation of a significant part of our forthcoming urban growth by means of entirely new communities, complete with all public services, all the industry and commerce needed to provide jobs, and sufficient housing and cultural and recreational facilities for moderate- and low-income families as well as for the well-to-do. To realize such new community development, and to encourage the participation of private initiative on the greatest possible scale, I propose a program of grants and loans to states and local governments for the planning and provision of necessary public facilities and of loan insurance for private developers constructing such facilities.

Many existing communities face problems of expansion as well. Even though they may foresee enormous development ahead, they often lack the resources to build sewer and water systems and other facilities with adequate growth capacity. Building in such capacity in advance could result in tremendous savings and prevent costly duplication or premature replacement of inadequate facilities. I, therefore, recommend a program of public facility loans with deferred amortization to enable communities to plan and build ahead of growth.

Cargo Plane Lands In Field of Tomatoes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A crippled troop cargo plane with 16 men aboard landed safely in a field of tomatoes only a few feet short of a high-voltage power line.

If the C123 had hit the line "with all that fuel on board, plus a full supply of liquid oxygen, there wouldn't have been any plane left," said an Air Force fire chief.

The C123 is designed for landing in a short distance on a rough field, and, as pilot Leonard Ponte put it, "Thank God for that flat land."

The plane, based at Plattsburg Air Force Base in New York had flown only nine miles from nearby Homestead Air Force Base when one engine went out.

Religion Dies Hard in Russia, Official Admits

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russia's chief Communist propagandist, admitting that religion dies hard, called today for an intensified drive to stamp out church practices in this country.

Leonid Ilyichev, head of the party's ideological commission, attacked the late dictator Josef Stalin for being too soft on religion and said that since his death the Kremlin has substituted tougher measures.

Nevertheless, Ilyichev said in the current issue of the party magazine, Kommunist, "The number of people practicing religious rites continues to be relatively high."

Ilyichev said outlawed religious sects like Jehovah's Witnesses, the Seventh-Day Adventists and the Uniates are conducting underground worship.

He also lashed out at the Russian Baptists, a legal sect which has 500,000 members and 5,000 active churches and meeting houses.

The largest religious group in Russia is the Orthodox Church, with a membership estimated by some observers at over 20 million.

DAYTON, Wash. (AP) — The orchestra, was last in a line of three. It skidded on the snowy highway struck an embankment and overturned about a mile and a half north of this southeastern Washington community.

The orchestra had appeared at Pullman, Wash., the night before and had seven concerts scheduled on the homeward trip.

Eleven still were hospitalized today, but Manager George Morgulis said all but four or five will continue the tour. After the mishap he had announced the remainder of the tour would be cancelled.

The orchestra was to have appeared tonight at Boise, Idaho. This stop has been eliminated but replacements have been found for the musicians unable to continue and the group will resume its schedule Monday at Provo, Utah.

Most seriously hurt was Ralph Watilo, who suffered a broken collar bone and a kidney injury.

U.S. Solons Object to De Gaulle Red Ties

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seven senators, including Milward Simpson, R-Wyo., are expected to introduce a bi-partisan resolution calling for French Premier Charles De Gaulle to reconsider his plan of giving diplomatic recognition to Red China.

"It is unpalatable to watch the French establish diplomatic rapport with the Red Chinese," Simpson said.

Simpson was expected to be joined by Sens. Peter Dominick and Gordon Allott, R-Colo.; Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D.; Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn.; Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill.; and Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C.

Simpson said the resolution would be accompanied by a statement marking De Gaulle's action, if carried out, as a "fateful step."

Johnson Acts Quickly to Change Vote

By JOE HALL

Helium Plays Vital Role in Space Age

WASHINGTON (AP) — The vital role of helium in defense and space activities was underscored by President Johnson last week in submitting to Congress his budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

He asked $20 million in additional borrowing authority for the government's helium conservation program under which increasing quantities of the gas are being stored near Amarillo, Tex., against future needs.

Helium, the next lightest gas to hydrogen, is extracted from natural gas, in which most of it used to go to waste.

The amount asked by the President is $14 million more than the authorization for the current fiscal year and up $6 million over the preceding year.

Under the program, administered by the Bureau of Mines money for purchase of helium is borrowed from the Treasury and repaid from government sales of the gas. The bureau estimates sales in the next fiscal year will bring in $24.4 million, compared with receipts of $21.1 million in the preceding year.

The government's extraction plants are at Exell and Amarillo, Tex.; Otis, Kan.; Keyes, Okla.; and Shiprock, N. M. The Mines Bureau has contracts for purchase of helium produced by Phillips Petroleum Co. plants at Ulysses, Kan.; National Helium Corp. at Liberal, Kan.; and Northern Helix Co. at Bushton, Kan.

Of the helium the government sell, 80 to 85 per cent goes to defense and other federal agencies, the remainder to private industry.

The President's budget message also asked funds for continuing a search for ways of increasing use of the nation's coal supply. He mentioned conversion of coal to gaseous and liquid forms "may economically be used to satisfy our growing energy requirements."

For the Office of Coal Research he asked $6,836,000, an increase of $1,761,000 over the appropriation for the current year.

The increase, he said, "will provide expansion of research by contract to find new markets and to develop new methods of mining, preparing and utilizing coal."

Johnson Acts Quickly to Change Vote
WASHINGTON (AP) — During the lunch hour Thursday, Lyndon B. Johnson put in two of the busiest hours in his two months as President.
What catapulted Johnson into action was word from Capitol Hill that the Senate Finance Committee had voted at its morning session to repeal $455 million worth of federal excise taxes.
The President was not pleased, and soon his displeasure was burning the telephone wires.
A Democratic committee member who received one of the calls said Johnson really didn't need the telephone—"If he had opened the window of his office, I could have heard him."
Excise tax repealers are popular because millions long have regarded the levies as unnecessary nuisances. Chiefly affected are cosmetics, jewelry including watches, handbags and wallets, luggage and furs.
Johnson was convinced that including such provisions in the $11.5-billion tax cut bill could jeopardize its chances of early passage because of the further loss in revenue.
The repeal amendments had been adopted by votes ranging from 9 to 6 to 13 to 0. The President didn't have much time to reverse these because the committee was scheduled to take its final action on the bill that afternoon.
Democratic senators had to be persuaded to switch positions they had taken only hours before. But Johnson lined up the nine needed votes, and the repealers were thrown out 9 to 8.
The President needed 9 votes and he had only 9 possibilities among the 17 committee members. The eight who were definitely beyond the reaches of White House influence were the six Republicans and two Democrats unalterably committed to repeal.
Johnson told a reporter at a party Thursday night "I'm not going to tell you what happened" during the noon hour that day. "You already assume too much about my arm-twisting ability anyway."

British Troops Enforce Peace In East Africa

those officers and for higher pay.

A spokesman in London for Britain's Commonwealth Ministry denied Soviet charges that Britain plans to invade Zanzibar to overthrow the revolutionary regime. The spokesman said Britain never had any intention of intervening in Zanzibar.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev warned that any forcible acts toward the leftist regime on the spice island would bring "dangerous consequences." The Soviet statement omitted the usual rocket rattling and made no mention of Tanganyika, Uganda or Kenya, whose African leaders called back British troops to help keep order.

More than 3,500 British troops maintained order in the three East African nations after lightning weekend moves that caused the deaths of four African soldiers. Three were killed when commandos quelled a new mutiny Saturday at a barracks outside Dar es Salaam, the Tanganyikan capital. The other was killed when British troops put down an uprising Friday night at a camp in Kenya.

Seventeen persons were killed in Tanganyika last Monday in rioting and looting that followed the initial mutiny. Uganda's mutiny on Thursday was brief and bloodless.

A British military spokesman in Nairobi said the additional British troops would be withdrawn as soon as security conditions permit because Britain's strategic reserve was badly depleted. In recent months Britain also has had to send extra troops to Cyprus and Malaysia.

Milman Heads State Square Dance Group

Owen Milman of Denver was elected president of the Colorado State Square Dance Association at the organization's quarterly meeting Sunday at the Carriage Stop.

He replaces Zeb Bean of Colorado Springs.

Other new officers are: vice president, Harold Jeske of Pueblo; secretary, Mrs. Marilyn Kroener of Boulder, and treasurer, Frank Lemon of Denver.

The association has 100 participating clubs in Colorado and portions of Wyoming, Kansas and Nebraska. There are seven local clubs.

The local clubs are now sponsoring three beginners square dance classes, two beginners round dance classes and two workshops.

Interested persons may call Bean, 634-7582; Chuck Howard, 633-1251, or Morris Maddock, 632-0231, for information about these sessions.

Overheated Dishwasher Brings Out Firemen

Companies 2 and 6 of the fire department this morning went to the residence of W. B. Campbell, 1351 Hillcrest Rd. The trouble was an overheated motor on a dish-washing machine. The only damage was to the dishwashing machine.

Companies 1, 4 and the aerial at 8:12 a.m. today made runs to the residence of Mrs. F. Malory, 320 E. Bijou St. The trouble was an overheated washing machine. There was no fire.

At 8:23 a.m. Company 6 and the aerial rescuator crews went to 1340 E. Fillmore St., where John Stevens, 51, of 911 Carlisle St. suffered an apparent heart attack on the street. Services of the firemen were not required. An ambulance was called and Stevens was taken to a hospital.

Walter Patterson, of 1011 N. Weber St. at 9:33 p.m. Sunday drove up to fire station 2 with a fire in the front seat of his car. The firemen extinguished the fire, which was attributed to careless smoking. Patterson was not injured.

A grass fire at 1702 Shelton St., was put out Sunday by Company 6, on a 1:03 p.m. alarm.

Demos Speculate Scranton, Nixon May Be GOP Team

Republicans aren't going to settle much in the presidential primaries.

Barring something like a runaway by one individual, capped by a smashing victory in California, they look for the Republicans to pick from a list of several possibilities the man they calculate in July has the best chance to beat Johnson.

This view is strengthened by developments which threaten to fizzle up the results in the March 10 New Hampshire primary. What started out as a test of strength between Goldwater and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, now has taken on the aspect of a free-for-all.

Moves are under way to run the 1960 GOP vice presidential nominee now serving the Johnson administration as ambassador to South Viet Nam. Write-ins for Nixon and Scranton could materialize, too, and Harold E. Stassen, the perennial candidate, also hopes to pick up some votes.

Out of all this could come the sort of confused verdict by the voters which — if repeated in other primaries — Democrats think will prevent any Republican aspirant from duplicating the 1960 primary sweep of the late John F. Kennedy.

In listing Scranton and Nixon at the top of their list of possibilities, Bailey and other strategists obviously are thinking in terms of what they regard as their stiffest opposition.

Scranton is somewhat of an unknown quantity outside of Pennsylvania but Democrats learned to respect his campaign ability there. They think he would be a tough man to beat in the big cities, where the presidential contest may be decided.

Viet Nam War Is Going Badly, Congress Told

improved world prospects for peace.

Appearing before the House Armed Services Committee, he said the Russian-Chinese dispute has gone beyond ideology to involve vital Soviet-Chinese interests. But he said this may only increase U. S. difficulties around the world.

McNamara's statements were contained in a 171-page "posture" statement submitted to the committee in support of President Johnson's military spending requests for the new fiscal year beginning July 1. Johnson wants $51.2 billion, compared with $52.3 billion in the current 12 months.

Referring to South Viet Nam, McNamara said "the situation there remains grave. . . I must report that they (the Communists) have made considerable progress since the coup."

While emphasizing that "this is a Vietnamese war, and in the final analysis it must be fought and won by the Vietnamese," McNamara expressed hope that the increased popular support of the new government will soon begin to have an effect.

"However," he said, "the survival of an independent government in South Viet Nam is so important to the security of all Southeast Asia and to the free world that I can conceive of no alternative other than to take all necessary measures within our capability to prevent a Communist victory."

Wife's Complaint Jails Man Sunday

Marvin Scott, 32, of 1301 Florence Ave. was booked into county jail Sunday following a signed complaint by his wife, Lorna Scott, alleging disturbance, the sheriff's office said.

According to Deputy Sheriff Edward Pakenham, Mrs. Scott was spanking her 3-year old daughter who had thrown a shovel at her, when Scott shoved his wife to the floor.

U.S. ally to recognize Communist China. The other was Britain, which opened diplomatic relations early in 1950, before the Korean war. But the Chinese have never agreed to exchange ambassadors with the British, and the top official of the British mission in Peking is a charge d'affaires.

President Charles de Gaulle's government had informed the United States that it would soon recognize the Peking regime. U.S. officials made no secret of their opposition, and President Johnson told a news conference Saturday his government had given its views to France along with an estimate of its general effect on the Atlantic alliance and the free world.

"There is a good deal of concern throughout the world about the action of the French government," Johnson said.

De Gaulle, as expected, gave no outward indication that he was the least bothered by the American opposition.

One cause for U.S. concern was the likely effect of the French recognition on Red China's long battle for a seat in the United Nations.

Recognition was seen at U.N. headquarters as a major breakthrough for the Chinese Communists, but it seemed doubtful that enough nations would switch votes to give Peking a seat at the next session of the General Assembly in the fall.

There have been predictions that France's recognition would be followed by that of most of the French-speaking African countries. But the first one to announce its position, the Malagasy Republic, said it had no intention of changing its policy.

France's recognition of Peking is the Red regime's first major advance on the world stage in years. The French action—especially if Peking and Taipei accept the two-Chinas policy—is likely to be followed by many other states.

De Gaulle's recognition agreement with Peking was worked out by a former French premier Edgar Faure, whom De Gaulle sent on an exploratory mission to Red China last fall. Faure had made one private trip to Red China previously.

Faure, it was reported here, persuaded Mao Tse-tung to drop all conditions for recognition, including Peking's previous opposition to the two-Chinas policy.

De Gaulle made the move in an effort to recoup French influence in Southeast Asia and the Far East. He has advanced guaranteed neutralization as a solution for the conflicts in Viet Nam and feels that this can be achieved only if Red China is cut in on the deal.

sociated Grocer members now have 612,800 square feet of total warehouse space, according to Fishburn. Construction was recently begun on a 138,000 square foot addition to the giant AG warehouse complex in Denver.

Among persons in the grocery and food manufacturing industries scheduled to speak at member meetings and functions will be Ray O. Harb, executive vice president of the Co-operative Food Distributors of America in Chicago, Ill.; Harold W. Garbers, secretary-manager of Central Retailer Owned Grocers, Inc., of Northlake, Ill.; Edward M. Barnett, vice president of the Kitchens of Sara Lee, Chicago, Ill.; Al Mannebach, meat merchandising consultant of Hollymatic Corporation in Park Forest, Ill.; William Ruoff, sales manager of Continental Baking Co. in Denver; Robert Dobson, special representative of Johnson Wax Co. of Racine, Wis.; and Edward McFaul of Chicago, Ill.

Officers and directors of AG will also address members, headed by President Gordon Rissler and Fishburn.

The three-day meeting will begin at 9 a.m. Sunday with the annual stockholders meeting and board of directors election. Reports will be given by Rissler, Fishburn, and Leo Kibber, treasurer.

Afternoons and evenings the growers will tour manufacturer and wholesaler display booths, attend luncheons, banquets, and a dance.

ONE-ROOM SCHOOL BURNS—Fire destroyed Lytle School on Lytle Star Route this morning leaving School District 39-J-F without a school building. The school, located about 20 miles south of Colorado Springs, was one of the few remaining one-room schools in the state and had a history dating back 61 years when Spencer Penrose donated the property on the Turkey Creek Ranch to residents of El Paso and Fremont Counties for as long as they would operate a school there. No one was injured in the blaze which destroyed the frame building. The alarm was turned in at 7 a.m. and county firemen were still at the scene at noon. Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined.

McNamara Tells U.S. Missiles Are Dependable

minished role of manned bombers.

McNamara, in a 171-page statement on the "posture" of the armed forces, also replied to critics of what has been called the "overkill" capability of the U.S. intercontinental ballistic missile and Polaris weapons systems. These critics say that the U.S. has too much missile power, enough to destroy targets several times over.

McNamara said the missile program must have "extra insurance" to make certain that various types of attack can be countered.

"We must be completely sure, and the Communists must be completely sure, about our ability at all times to retaliate decisively against Soviet cities, even under the worst of circumstances," McNamara said.

Owner Reports Paint Damage to Car

Mrs. Elsie Peterson of 1210 Hartford Dr. reported to the sheriff's department over the week-end that black paint had been sprayed all over one side of her car.

She told Deputy Sheriff Wayne King that on Friday night she heard a car drive by her house with people in it talking loudly. The following morning she discovered the entire right side of her car covered with black paint.

The deputy said it appeared as though someone had leaned out of another car with a spray can and sprayed as he drove past.

State Bill Asks Quicker Work in Injury Claims

has also recommended that the state auditor participate in the selection of an auditing service for the fund and that two members of the legislature be appointed to the advisory committee for the fund. These recommendations are also included in the bill presented by Braden.

The committee studied the fund for a year and criticized two aspects of the operation in its report to the governor.

"The report of this committee is critical of the fund's operation in areas," Braden said. "Risk inspection—the enforcement of safety regulations at operations by the fund—has not been carried on; the handling of injury claims has been delayed due to the lack of trained personnel for on-the-spot investigation of accident claims."

The local legislator said that both of these deficiencies can be traced to the limitation of operating expenses fixed by law. The 10 per cent limitation is related to premiums collected, Braden said.

"The committee has recommended that this limitation be removed and, as a substitute, a review of the expense budget of the fund be made by the Legislative Joint Budget Committee each year," Braden said.

He said that the committee has also recommended that the commissioner of insurance advise the budget committee "concerning the reasonableness of the fund's expense factor as compared to the similar administration costs on the part of private insurance companies writing similar forms of insurance."

He said that removal of the expense limitation would provide the fund with sufficient operating money to "augment the safety inspection facilities and to provide for such claims investigation that present delays in claims handling be curtailed and eliminated."

The committee is asking that the audit of the fund be made an annual examination and that the state auditor be given authority to help in the selection of an auditing firm to perform the service.

"Probably one of the most far-reaching recommendations of this committee will be the provision that the Advisory Committee of the fund be reactivated and that two members of the General Assembly be appointed by the Governor to serve on this council," Braden said.

He pointed out that the committee is provided for by law, it has not been active for four years. He said that Gov. Love has rectified this and appointed a new committee which will meet regularly.

However, Braden said, the committee felt that legislative representation on the committee would keep the General Assembly informed on its operation and provide for any legislation that may be needed for efficient management.

He said that the committee has also recommended that the rehabilitation facilities of the fund be studied although it is not included in his bill for action.

"The rehabilitation facilities of the fund have been considered for a number of years but there has been a lag in the actual determination of needs and the means of providing for such facilities," Braden said.

The Nation's Weather

(Report furnished by U.S. Weather Bureau Station at Peterson Field)

The national weather picture this morning shows many similarities. No storms of any significance were present over the continental United States and as a result, the nation-wide weather picture was generally dry.

The few exceptions were some mostly light snow flurries in the Great Lakes region and a few showers along the Texas coast.

Of interest this morning, considerable fog was noted over many sections west of the upper Rockies.

Most of this fog will break up today.

Temperatures were running below normal from the northern Rockies eastward. At the same time much of the southern U.S. was well above normal. These conditions will tend to reverse within the next day or so.

viper, 36 years ago, and survived.

Perkins said, "I know what tremendous pain is involved. It is one of my most vivid memories. The pain is extensive and intense. It felt like a big weight on my chest and I was not able to breathe. And it felt like acid was eating inside me."

An associate described De Bary Sunday as being conscious and "taking it calmly" although in severe pain.

De Bary was working in the snake house alone. For some reason he became dizzy after he opened the glass door of the puff adder's cage. He fell forward, but put up his arm to catch himself. The five-foot long adder sank both its fangs into his left forearm.

Gun Accident Injures Man

Darewood Dugan of Route 1, Academy Hills, accidentally shot himself in the right leg and foot, the sheriff's office reported Sunday.

According to Deputy Sheriffs Ray Carey and Charles White, Dugan was putting his pistol back into the holster when it accidentally cocked and when he snapped the strap over the gun it went off.

The bullet went thru the outer calf of the right leg and lodged in the arch of the foot. Dugan was taken to Penrose Hospital but he refused to be admitted for treatment, the report said, and left under his own care.

D. Paul Adams Died At Home Sunday

D. Paul Adams, 64, of Route 3, Black Forest, died at his home Sunday, the sheriff's office reported.

Deputy Sheriff Woodrow Little said Mr. Adams had returned a water pump to one of his neighbors, and commented on his wife that he would have to stop carrying heavy objects as they made him breathless.

Shortly afterwards he complained of not feeling well and went to bed after the evening meal. Mrs. Adams then heard him gasp and when she went into the bedroom he was dead.

He is also survived by a son in Farmington, N.M. and a daughter in Colorado Springs.

Scores Arrested In Atlanta, Ga. Demonstrations

been the scene of demonstrations for several weeks. The demonstrations became more intensified this weekend with the appearance of the U.N. sub-commission in Atlanta.

The demonstrations began about noon Sunday and continued until shortly before midnight.

Most of the 86 arrested had to be carried to jail. All were released upon their own recognizance after they were charged with disorderly conducting and creating a disturbance.

Most of those arrested were Negro students. They also included Negro comedian Dick Gregory, who for a time directed the demonstration at the restaurant.

Members of the U.N. sub-commission on Prevention of Discrimination and Protection of Minorities watched Negro and Ku Klux Klan pickets in action.

The Negroes were protesting segregation. The Klan pickets were passing out literature proclaiming that a white boycott was hurting Atlanta businesses which have integrated.

Mrs. Mary A. Morin Dies; Rosary Tonight

Mrs. Mary A. Morin, of Ordway, Colo., died Friday at a local hospital. She was the wife of Joseph Morin of Ordway and had been in Colorado Springs four weeks.

Mrs. Morin was born in Australia, July 8, 1902. She and Mr. Morin were married in Colorado Springs Aug. 20, 1928. Besides her husband she is survived by a son, John Robert Morin, of Colorado Springs; four brothers, John, Rudy, Jake and Frank Ausec, and a sister, Mrs. R. Watson, all of Colorado Springs, and two grandchildren.

Rosary services will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Nolan Drawing Room. A requiem high mass will be celebrated at St. Mary's Church at 9 a.m. Tuesday by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Robert Hoffman. Burial will be in the Pax Christi section of Evergreen Cemetery.

Dr. Leslie Barber Dies; Services Held Today

Dr. Leslie Barber, veteran Oklahoma physician, who had been a resident of Colorado Springs three years, died Saturday at a local hospital. He went to Oklahoma in 1900 after graduation from medical school in Kansas City when Oklahoma was still Indian Territory and practiced there for 55 years. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church here and of a Masonic Lodge in Oklahoma.

Dr. Barber was born in Beatrice County, Kan., Oct. 9, 1890. He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. F. L. Davis and Mrs. O. L. Clark, both of Colorado Springs, and Mrs. D. O. Meek, of Ponca City, Okla.

Funeral services were held at 3 p.m. today at the Law Drawing Room Dr. Howard E. Hansen, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiated. Burial will be in Ralston, Okla. The Hunsaker Funeral Home has charge of arrangements there.

LBJ Proposes Federal Aid For Local Developments

Public facility loans with deferred amortization to enable communities to plan and build ahead of growth.

Public facility loans, with deferral of amortization as required, for advance land purchase or option by states and local governments.

Federal insurance of loans to private developers for purchase and improvement of land for planned subdivisions.

In addition to calling for an expansion of public housing, Johnson called for $5 million for a one-year extension of studies on the housing needs of low-income families.

He said the expansion of the public housing program "will be used extensively for lower-income elderly," and also recommended expansion of the program of loans to low-income elderly families to permit $100 million in loans during the next fiscal year.

He also recommended that for the first time elderly single persons should be made eligible for housing financed by low cost federal loans, and low income single persons of all ages eligible for admission to public housing projects when they are displaced by urban renewal or public housing projects.

Beckwith Goes On Trial for Assassination

rumored. However, officers said no distractions or commotion would be allowed in the courthouse, where voter applications are filed.

A special venire of 200 prospective jurors included several Negroes, officials said. The names were taken from lists of registered voters.

The case involves the slaying of Medgar Evers, state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

In the midst of an NAACP-backed drive to crack rigid racial barriers, Evers drove home at midnight last June 12, stepped from his car and was shot in the back by a sniper hidden in a honeysuckle bush across the street.

The ambush shocked the nation.

President John F. Kennedy, so soon to meet a similar fate, called the sniper killing barbaric.

Aaron Henry, Clarksdale, state president of the NAACP, urged Negroes to turn out en masse for the trial, despite the limitations of the 300-seat courtroom.

For Beckwith, trips to and from trial will be a matter of a short elevator ride. The courtroom is on the main floor of the stone building. The Hinds County jail tops the four-story structure.

Photographers were barred from the building.

Judge Leon Hendrick set aside two weeks for the trial.

The FBI arrested Beckwith at Greenwood, his hometown, after finding one of his fingerprints on the 30-06 Enfield rifle used in the ambush. The gun is of World War I vintage.

A vehement segregationist, Beckwith is a member of the Greenwood White Citizens Council. He sold fertilizer for a living and collected guns as a hobby.

The former Marine snapped, "Not guilty, sir" when arraigned on the murder charge.

The prosecutor's effort to have Beckwith given a partial mental examination was defeated by the defense.

official generic results in assuring that the species will be bred from the strongest and most aggressive males. Only the strong procreate."

He said males have gone against many of their instincts as they have accepted the comparatively recent idea of monogamous marriage. Man has lost the hero role and much of the pride that used to go with fatherhood, he added.

Dr. Lee, father of five and grandfather of 20 after 46 years of marriage, is founder of the Palo Alto (Calif.) Medical Clinic and the Palo Alto Medical Research Foundation.

Check Protector Taken in Burglary

Someone broke into the Summers Roofing Co. 3413 N. El Paso St. and stole a "Safe-guard" check protector worth $25, the sheriff's office said Sunday.

According to Deputy Sheriff Franklin Ripley, the burglary happened Friday night and entry was made by breaking a glass out of the rear door.

Truman Summers, owner of the company, told the officer that on Jan. 13, a number of blank checks were stolen from the office and five of them have already been cashed. He believes the same person is responsible for both thefts.

Approximately $300 million worth of potato chips are manufactured annually in the United States.

air by helicopter because there is no landing strip.

"She and her friends were out on the lawn," he said. "Then we got a letter telling us she was dead—killed by an arrow."

Another missionary, Bertha Miller of Glendale, Calif., arrived in Leopoldville Sunday and said planes spotted Miss Hege waving for help.

Miss Miller said she was forced to flee from her mission in Kamayala after rebels set fire to grass in the area and the flames threatened the station.

Mulele's forces were reported to have spread their revolt into Kwango Province, south of Kwilu, where Catholic and Protestant missions also have been attacked. Mulele was also reported by Congolese Planning Minister Cleophas Kamitatu to be moving raiders into Kasai Unit Province on the east.

The Rev. Mr. Buller said villagers are either actively aiding Mulele or supporting him for fear of being killed by partisans of the 34-year-old ex-minister.

Mulele's army of between 400 to 600 men was reported to have grown after his attacks on mission stations last week.

Refugees believe Mulele, who spent several months in Peking last year, is trying to wipe out all traces of law and order in the region.

"I don't think he was replaced by a computer costing $500,000. I think he was just fired!"

Uruguay Smashes Plot by Rightists

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — An ultra-rightist revolutionary movement seeking to overthrow the government of Uruguay was discovered and quashed before any action could occur, two important newspapers claimed Sunday night.

Government officials refused to comment on the reports published by El Diario and the semi-official government newspaper El Plata.

Some 30 active and retired army officers and a priest were involved, according to the unconfirmed published reports.

TOKYO — Japan will watch all known confidence men closely during the Olympics.

Baker Cannot Be Interviewed, Prober Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The special counsel for the Senate Rules Committee's probe into the business affairs of Robert G. Baker says he has been unsuccessful in trying to interview the former Senate aide.

"You can't interview a man who won't be interviewed," counsel L. P. McLendon told newsmen.

But he added that Carole Tyler, a former beauty contest winner and Baker's secretary, would be called later as a witness.

Baker, 35, quit under fire Oct. 7 as secretary of the Senate's Democrats. The committee is seeking to determine if he or any other Senate employees engaged in any impropriety or conflict of interest.

Earlier witnesses testified that Baker talked an insurance salesman into giving President Johnson a $500 stereo set in 1957.

Most of Friday's hearing was devoted to the fancy $28,800 town house that Baker turned over to Miss Tyler and one or two other girls.

C. W. Taylor, president of the cooperative housing development which built the 4-bedroom, 2-bath house in Washington's southeast area, says he has been trying unsuccessfully to sell it.

The rules of the development require the owner to live in it, and Baker lives with his family in an expensive home in the northwest area.

The chief problem in selling it seems to be the French wallpaper and lavender wall-to-wall upon plant food for its liquid.

THAT'S LOTS OF RESEARCH COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Chemical Abstracts," publication since 1907 of the American Chemical Society's Chemical Abstracts Service which summarizes new information on chemical subjects, recently published its 3,000,000th digest of a report on research.

Dubliners Stage Riot At Celebrity Wedding

DULIN (UPI) — Hundreds of people waiting limousine. The Dubliners staged a wild, stam-ped riot Saturday and bat-fight through the crowd, and tied police to get a look at the mob did not break up until Miss Ireland when she married the son of novelist Daphne Du Maurier.

A woman was trampled by the mob and taken to a hospital with a possible leg fracture. Several other persons were shaken up, cut and bruised in the melee. Cars were dented when spectators scrambled to get them for vantage points outside the church to see the couple and their celebrity guests.

The police formed a flying wedge to clear a path from the door of the church to the courtyard.

Wind Causes Power Blackout in Boulder

BOULDER, Colo. — High winds caused a power blackout for more than two hours in downtown Boulder Saturday.

Public Service Co. officials said a lower tier of wires were blown into contact with an upper tier, resulting in a blazing short circuit in the area.

Flashing wires fell on a truck and car underneath. Passengers were trapped momentarily until firemen cleared the wires but no injuries resulted.

Among the businesses left without electricity from 9:45 a.m. until 11:52 a.m. was the Boulder Daily Camera, where The Associated Press News wire and the paper's typesetting machines were still during that period.

No hospitals were in the affected area. The University of Colorado also had no power difficulty.

The winds blew the roof from a home under construction in another section of the city, smashing it into two parked cars. A construction shed also was wrecked.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Private Parking

Businessman Morris Guberman doesn't approve of our stand on parking. His most recent letter to the editor is in today's Open Parliament section.

We believe Mr. Guberman is sincere, but that he is seeking at the present time to enlist money, to be provided by taxpayers, so that he may benefit in his store by having tax-provided parking places for his customers.

Some of the taxpayers who would be forced to provide parking lots at their expense do not patronize his store. By compelling them to provide parking lots at their expense, he can obtain city-wide patronage by force. We do not believe this is right.

Further, in harmony with what we pointed out earlier, we do not think it is necessary. The city council, in objecting to Mr. Guberman's proposal, took a wise and judicious position in this case.

Let us examine the "plight" of Mr. Guberman's retail outlet. It is on the corner of Tejon and Colorado, a prime business location. There are four other city blocks which are across a single street from the city block that houses his establishment. There are four other city blocks which are diagonally opposite his block. Thus, there are eight blocks which surround the particular square where the proud front of Kaufman's offers its attractive wares.

In this total of nine blocks (Kaufman's and eight others) there are a total of seven private parking lots, some of them of impressive size. Most of them are brand new.

Across the street (Tejon) there is one such lot. In the south center of the block on the opposite side of Colorado Avenue is a parking lot. Across Nevada, just a block away, is the new parking lot just put in by the Cooper Foundation. Nearly one quarter of a whole city square has recently been turned into parking in the block north of the Kaufman block. That is

Private Parking II

We are in the midst of responding to a letter from Morris Guberman, local businessman. Mr. Guberman seems to believe that only the government has enough sense to provide the things business needs, particularly insofar as parking lots are concerned.

Fortunately for us in Colorado Springs, the people decided some years ago they did not want the city to get into the parking lot business. With the assurance that this would not occur, look what private businessmen have done. In a nine-block area where only one parking lot existed ten years ago, private business has voluntarily and at its own expense added six more.

We will contend that had the city gotten into the parking lot business ten years ago, it might have put in one, or maybe two, lots in that downtown district. Today, there are seven. (Or will be when the Neusteters lot is completed.)

By now, those city parking lots would be overcrowded. But businessmen would not put in their own parking lots because they cannot compete with government operation of any business. Hence, we would today be in a serious situation and there would be no way out except for the government to begin condemnation proceedings against existing property owners (possibly Kaufman's) in an effort to provide that which has been provided now at no cost to the taxpayers.

Mr. Guberman contends that one of the real problems provided by a free market is that businesses sometimes fail. He cites Dun and Bradstreet to prove his point.

But this is not a problem. The fact that a business which does not win support of customers fails, is not a bad thing but a good thing.

Look around and try to count up the number of government operations which have failed.

DOWNTOWN PARKING

To the Editor:

Anarchy is defined in Webster's Dictionary as "a state of confusion or disorder." The dictionary also states, "Anarchy implies total absence or suspension of government."

In spite of the denials by you and your publisher of the charge that you advocate anarchy, it seems to me that in your editorial of January 22, "The Parking Problem," you have exactly described and show your support for such a situation. You state, "This fact indicates that government never should have invaded the business of providing roads." If it were possible to get some objective judges to pass on whether this state of would not result in a state of confusion or disorder, real chaos, I think the decision would be that the situation where the building of roads in this country was left to chance, to "private enterprise," as you call it, would be real anarchy.

In this editorial, too, you show a sort of naive belief in "private enterprise," as being the perfect answer to all problems which it definitely is not. Dun & Bradstreet report daily failures by private enterprise.

These run into thousands each year. As I've pointed out many times, there is good private enterprise, and there is bad private enterprise. There is good government and there is bad government. Good government is badly needed by all of us. Private enterprise and government working together effectively represent the best of both and a good way of getting things done.

While I'm happy to see you for once give our city administration praise, in this instance, I think you are wrong because I believe in Colorado Springs the city administration is in the parking business thru parking meters, and it would be an intelligent extension of this function to, with the help of private enterprise, get into the parking lot or parking building business. This would be an intelligent "private enterprise" type of thing to do. It would insure a continuance in the future of some of the good income that the city government gets from downtown business.

I believe, too, that if the management of the Gazette Telegraph, were more concerned with the welfare of its community, and its advertisers, rather than in promulgating what many consider to be "crackpot" ideas, it might be easier to secure some of the needed progress for Downtown Colorado Springs.

Regarding your statements about private enterprise in roads, and the article by John C. Sparks of Canton, Ohio, the fact is that some of the greatest discoveries and inventions have been made because of the CO-OPERATION OF PRIVATE ENTERPRISE AND GOVERNMENT. We're for such cooperation.

Best Regards

Editor's note: Please see today's editorials.

"crackpot" is simply to descend to name - calling and vituperation. It is unworthy of a fine store like Kaufman's and a splendid (if "anarchistic") management.

ROMANCE HAS ITS PROBLEMS

The Local Scene

By RUFUS L. PORTER

Like it or not, we are developing into a nation of "strip cities." A total of 19 such strips are mentioned in the January 13 issue of U.S. News and World Report where, according to U.S. census figures, the population increases are gravitating. The estimated increase in the strip cities and other metropolitan areas between the census taking in 1960 and the one coming up in 1970 is 23 per cent. The estimated increase for the rest of the nation is two per cent. By 1970 nearly 70 per cent of the population will be living in urban areas, according to the census bureau. With the farm population steadily shrinking, the wide open spaces are going to be wider than they have been for a long time. Just something to drive thru from one strip city to the next. I'm not saying this is a bad thing, it's just the way the country is developing.

Prominent among the strips mentioned is the "Denver-Colo-Colorado Springs-Pueblo" strip. Actually, this strip is already in evidence all the way from Fort Collins and Greeley north of Denver to the brand new "Colorado City" south of Pueblo. The strips tend to develop along the main arteries of travel between the cities until they all run together. In time, the "Denver-Pueblo" strip will extend from Cheyenne, Wyoming, to Trinidad, Colorado, and very likely Laramie and Fort Collins will gradually build toward each other and make a Y of the northern end of the strip (our own predictions).

This strip, as it develops, presents an unusual challenge to Colorado Springs. Already recognized as a cultural center, the Springs could well become the cultural capital of this huge megalopolis. Situated near the center of the strip with the greatest scenic attractions and the finest climate in the entire area, winter or summer, and with a large group of practitioners of the arts already located here, it seems only natural that the Springs should bend every effort to lure the artistically inclined to this vicinity. I do not mean that this effort should be at the expense of the taxpayers. I believe interested individuals and voluntary organizations could accomplish more in such a matter than the city dads could by rarin' back and passin' a tax. Industries? Sure, we need new industries, and we'll get 'em. The Chamber of Commerce has been doing a fine job in this area and will no doubt continue to do so. I'm all in favor of commercialism, it takes business to support the arts. Come to think of it, Little London was founded in the first place by a patron of the arts and, more or less, as a city of culture and breeding. And it has remained, from the beginning, a city beautiful that has attracted painters, sculptors, writers and poets by the hundreds.

We already have the excellent and wonderful Fine Arts Center, a very fine, forward-moving college, Colorado College, and, in the planning stage, the Rampart College, which will be in operation before 1970. While Rampart College is not located in Colorado Springs, but a few miles north, it will most certainly be considered as one of the region's finest assets and add greatly to the prestige of the Springs as a center of culture.

We have the famous Civic Players, the Colorado Springs Symphony Orchestra and other like groups of artists. We have

Some Pertinent Data

By H. E. KERSHNER, L.H.D.
Charles Schuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the largest farmer's organization in America, is correct in saying that the farmers reject the wheat subsidy plan of the Department of Agriculture because they knew that after the government has spent up to $7 billion a year for 30 years, the commodities that are in the most trouble are those the government has been trying hardest to fix. They prefer to call a halt rather than to make a bad matter worse.

DO YOU KNOW:
—That 8,100 employees are required to administer the price support program in Illinois? For every 19 farm operators not counting the swarms of controllers that infest Washington.

—That as the number of farms decreases, the number of bureaucrats controlling them increases? So, that now, 200,000 employees are on the federal agricultural payroll — about 1 for each 11 wheat farmers.

—That there are 54 brand new modernistic county office buildings in the State of Illinois for housing farm program agencies, that 7 more are under construction and 11 are in the planning stage?

—That fringe benefits for American workers — excluding paid vacations and holidays amounted to more than $23 billion last year exceeding by $31 million all the after-tax profits of American corporations?

—That the State Department brought to Panama for a series of speeches, the Egyptian Abdul Hamid Abu Bakr, secretary general of the Suez Canal Authority, who was and is Nasser's man in the seizure and operation of the Suez Canal? This man was photographed with Governor Fleming of the Canal Zone and is, apparently, being used to stimulate further propaganda toward further liquidation of United States sovereignty in the Canal Zone.

—That a motion picture star might earn a handsome income from a picture and then draw $55 per week unemployment relief while waiting a few weeks to begin work on the next picture?

—That the new super House Office Building is costing the American taxpayers 131 million dollars? The two other House Office Buildings combined cost 12.6 million dollars.

To The Point

Old Houses

By RUSSELL KIRK

With increasing speed, we are demolishing our old houses. The champions of beauty and historic interest are few. When an architect friend of mine suggested that a handsome old mansion (scheduled for destruction) ought to be saved, a bewildered realtor told him, "Why, that's one of the oldest buildings in town. Isn't it?" For this champion of Progress, age was synonymous with obsolescence.

A few days ago, I drove along North Territorial Road, in Wayne County, Michigan — a few miles from the house where I was born, four decades ago. North Territorial retains some rural charm: a fairly winding road, with big trees and undulating glacial terrain. Once it was lined with pleasant farmhouses, many of them small Greek Revival homes of the 1840's. All this is going.

Several of those admirable little houses survive, but probably they are not long for this world. More have been torn down, sometimes supplanted by new "ranch-type" dwellings — not bad in themselves, but inferior in style to their predecessors, and of no antiquarian interest. Out of the survivors, some could be put right with little more than a coat of paint — at a fraction of the cost of building a new house.

It is good to live in a place where many folk have dwelt before you. We ought to be grateful to our ancestors, and to share the continuity of civilization, rather than to hack down everything venerable for the sake of novelty and gadgets. Besides, unless you are quite sure you can design a house more handsome than your grandfather's, and build it of better materials, you ought to let well enough alone.

I admit willingly that some "restorers" are worse vandals than are some demolishers. Many a well-meant but ill-judged "improvement" has so mutilated a good building that it would be better abolished. But one can avoid such blunders by looking at old prints and photographs of houses of the period, or by consulting a competent architect.

And much can be learnt, in the cause of preservation, from the publications of the National Trust for Historic Preservation (815 17th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.), a society that welcomes new members. This Trust helps to co-ordinate the efforts of local groups — of which we need many more. It is heartening to learn that the Brooklyn Heights Association, for instance, has formed a Design Advisory Board to help property-owners in renovation. What people unfamiliar with New York don't suspect, the Borough of Brooklyn still has much charming architecture, especially in the streets of the Heights, overlooking New York harbor. Go thou and do likewise, locally.

Some of my Italian friends live in houses built by Renaissance architects — and aren't the least bit ashamed. So why should you and I, reader, boggle at residing in a good house of 1870, say? (Or, better, of 1770?) We ought to count ourselves lucky; for soon such interesting habitations will be scarce as hen's teeth.

We Pay Twice For French Weapon

WASHINGTON — President de Gaulle's haughty flouting of the U.S. in establishing diplomatic and trade relations with Red China is a glaring instance of adding insult to injury.

While "le grand Charley" is imperiously snuggling up to the Communists in the Far East, his government, thru a virtually wholly owned company, is crassly chiseling millions from the U.S. on an anti-tank weapon financed by this country for the defense of France in Europe.

This bald shakedown is being pulled off despite the fact that the U.S. has given France more than $4 billion in military aid.

The details of this shabby backstage affair are spelled out in a caustic report submitted to Congress by Comptroller General Joseph Campbell. His account is a devastating commentary on foreign aid.

It reveals vividly and clearly how the biggest beneficiary of such assistance hasn't hesitated to act with shocking and tawdry avarice.

"L'honneur" and "la Gloire" are notably absent.

As reported by Comptroller Campbell, the U.S. put up a good part of the money for the development of this anti-tank weapon by a French concern almost entirely owned by the French government. In return, France gave the U.S. production rights without cost.

Despite this categorical agreement, the French firm demanded and obtained royalty fees — up to $3.6 billion, depending on the number of weapons produced.

Comptroller Campbell leaves little doubt the French government profited directly from this gyp, which he holds is not only outrageous but squarely in violation of mutual defense understandings between the U.S. and France.

Portions of the comptroller general's scathing report are classified. Why that should be so is baffling, as there are no military secrets in it.

One explanation may be that the disclosures are highly embarrassing to State and Defense Department authorities. It's an old bureaucratic dodge to keep such facts from coming to light by labeling them confidential.

This secrecy is particularly mystifying at this time in view of De Gaulle's repeated affronts to the U.S.

Latest of these is a report published in several French papers that he plans to stop off in Cuba on his way back from a visit to Mexico in March. There has been no official confirmation of these press stories.

But France maintains diplomatic relations with Castro and recently has considerably increased its trade with him.

The comptroller general's report pulls no punches in castigating the anti-tank weapon affair. Following are highlights that recount the details of this astonishing shakedown:

"Our review disclosed that the United States government has agreed to pay a French contractor, 99.5 per cent owned by the French government, a minimum of $1.1 million and a maximum of $3.6 billion, depending on the number of weapons produced, for the right to manufacture the weapon in the United States.

"This payment was agreed to despite the fact that (1) the United States contributed a significant amount toward the cost involved in the mutual development of this weapon, and (2) France agreed to grant the United States the right to produce and use the weapon without cost.

"The United States has granted military assistance valued at over $4.1 billion to France to the end of fiscal 1962. Included in this assistance was over $77 million contributed toward the cost of mutual weapons development projects.

"Inherent in the United States military assistance program has been the understanding that governments of countries to which assistance is granted will not profit from such programs. This understanding, that the French government would not make a profit on the anti-tank weapon, is clearly stated in the bilateral agreement and in this particular project agreement between France and the United States.

"Nevertheless, the United States, in order to obtain the right to produce this mutually developed weapons system, is being required to pay license and royalty fees to a French corporation which is substantially owned and controlled by the French government.

"It is reasonable to assume that the French government will directly benefit from this arrangement to the extent of its substantial ownership in the French corporation.

"In view of the above, it would appear that, after contributing billions of dollars to the French government for military assistance which included many millions for mutual weapons development, the French government should not have placed the U.S. in the position where it must pay a fee to produce a weapon on which contributions under the mutual assistance program were made toward cost of development.

"The Department of Defense informed us that it unsuccessfully attempted to obtain a royalty-free license granting the U.S. the right to produce this anti-tank weapon. The French government would not agree and, therefore, the license had to be negotiated with the French contractor at the best terms possible.

"Under the circumstances, there apparently is no legal basis for recovering any of the funds paid under this license agreement."

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functioning of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION No. 424: "How can a man learn and thus correct his mis-beliefs if he keeps them to himself and does not let others have an opportunity to point out his fallacies and inconsistencies?"

ANSWER: We can think of no way better than letting others know what one believes as to what is right and what is wrong. Let all people have an opportunity to test whether your ideas are consistent with what you profess to believe, or whether they are beliefs of right that will improve the well-being of mankind.

Of course, reading the great thinkers of the ages is a good way of learning, but the trouble with reading a book is that you cannot ask the writer questions. Sometimes he does not make himself clear or you do not understand what he is trying to say.

That is the advantage of "The Question Box," where you do not need to sign your name. All people have an opportunity to analyze and you are not embarrassed by being mistaken because you do not have to sign your name. As Ortega y Gasset says, there is nothing to be ashamed of in being ignorant of various things. The only thing to be ashamed of is that you are not making an effort to improve your understanding to grasp the difference between right and wrong.

If you don't keep on trying to improve your understanding of right and wrong and your ability to express it you become stagnant and become satisfied with yourself and stop developing. As Joseph Galambos said, "If a man stops trying to learn, he never started." You have always got something to learn as to how to properly harmonize your ideas of right and wrong with the laws of the universe. Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

BIG WIND IN NEW YORK HITS MARY MARTIN'S HOME

NEW YORK — The wind on the East River whipped around Mary Martin's penthouse terrace, lifted a giant gazebo and weathervane right off and landed them smack on, East 52d Street. The miracle was that no one was injured. Mary was a girl anxious to get out of town for a long rest when I lunched with her at the Pavilion. She and Richard Halliday are heading for their Brazilian hideaway until June when they will return here for birth of their daughter, Heller's baby.

Mary received a wonderful gift for her expected grandchild — the cradle in which she rocked Heller. Twenty years ago it was passed on to Ed Horton, who rocked her nine little granddaughters in it. When she read that Heller was expecting, she wired Mary: "Cradle is on its way." Mary said: "I don't know how she knew that all of us had thought of it, but hadn't mentioned it to the other. We experienced great waves of sentiment then pushed the thought out of our heads — that Heller's baby could be rocked in the very same cradle that we had such joy preparing for her."

Mrs. Horton, the nine-times grandmother, stopped rocking long enough last year to compose "Candy Bits by Zazu Pitts" — just off the press, zazu, one of Hollywood's best cooks, specialized in candy and the book has all her choice recipes. It should provide a nice heritage for her grandsons.

I was introduced to three new places the other night by Publisher Edwin Russell, Jim Mitchell, and Jerome Zerbe. We dined at Le Bijou, a French restaurant in Greenwich Village, and met Owner Herbert Blumenthal. He used to be a shoe salesman at Gimbel's but was always crazy about show business and gave more than a helping hand to two of our more temperamental actresses, Elisabeth Bergner and Pola Negri. His stories about the girls would make a better show than any running on Broadway. Blumenthal found the play, "The Two Mrs. Carrolls" for Bergner. After her success in it, she hired herself a manager, a job Herbert felt belonged to him. "But you're my friend," said Elisabeth, and that ended that. He got nothing but she remembered him last Christmas with a card from Berlin where she has a successful play running. He gave Pola a hand when she was trying a comeback in nightclubs.

LOLLY, GET UP AND GO TO WORK OR WOULD YOU RATHER LOVE YOUR JOB AND END UP BROKE AND STARVING TO DEATH?

WELL?

I'M THINKING IT OVER.

CAPTAIN EASY

THERE, YOU LOOK MORE LIKE A HUMAN BEING WITH YOUR FACE UNCOVERED, CAPTAIN EASY.

YEAH, DOC, BUT I'M KINDA SLEEPY.

OF COURSE, A NAP WILL DO YOU GOOD! IF YOU NEED ANY-- THIS, JUST THIS.

LATER, I WAS TOLD A CAPTAIN EASY IN ROOM 17, WANTED TO SEE-- GREAT SCOTT!

SHHH! CLOSE THE DOOR, QUICK, CHARLEY!

RON, WHAT HAPPENED? I READ YOU'D ESCAPED, BUT I THOUGHT--

LATER, YOU GOTTA GIVE ME LUTA HERRING TONIGHT, CHARLEY! I'D BE IDENTIFIED TOMORROW! I GOT A PLAN FIGURED OUT, LISTEN...

MORTY MLEKLE

I JUST MADE UP A JOKE... WHAT HAS A HUNDRED FEET AND GAVE TOUCH?

A CENTIPEDE WITH BUNIONS!

I DON'T KNOW... WHAT?

I FEEL SORRY FOR PEOPLE WHO WERE BORN WITHOUT A SENSE OF HUMOR.

ALLEY OOP

AWRIGHT NOW, DINNY, YOU JUST SIT TIGHT. I'LL BE BACK PRETTY SOON!

I'M LOOKING FOR GIKKY, Y'KNOW WHERE I CAN FIND HER?

GIKKY, YOU KNOW THE GIRL WHO WAS RESCUED BY THAT FELLA FROM MOO!

OH, HER! YEH, I DUNNO WHERE SHE IS RIGHT NOW...

PROBLY OUT GADDIN' AROUND SOMEWHERE WITH HER HUSBAND!

SHORT RIBS

DUMP THE GARBAGE ON YOUR WAY OUT!

I WILL NOT!

Designers' Fashion Show Will Again Benefit CARE

The Colorado Springs committee for CARE announces that the Denver Designers Group will show their custom designs at a luncheon to be held March 4 at the Broadmoor Hotel. This is the second year that the designs have been shown here.

This showing is held in conjunction with CARE in Denver, and will be an important fashion highlight in Denver with the fashions being shown the day before they are brought to Colorado Springs.

Fashion conscious Denver women have enjoyed the Denver Designers custom showing for many years, and proceeds for the last five years have gone to CARE. Last year it was decided to include Colorado Springs and give women here a chance to see these outstanding designs. The Denver Designers Group, nationally known and recognized, include such names as Julia Tobias, Margaret Hansen, Doray Sadler, Mary Takashahi and Kate Ferretti.

The Colorado Springs woman in charge of local arrangements are: Mrs. P. A. Dieffenbach, chairman; Mrs. Peter J. King, Jr.; and Mrs. William Haney, co-chairman; Mrs. Wallace Lundquist, secretary; Mrs. Thomas Messinger, ticket chairman and treasurer; Mrs. Robert Laura, ticket co-chairman; Maggie Houston, arrangements and commentator; Mrs. K. B. Berry, arrangements co-chairman; Mrs. Walter R. Freudenberg, decorations; Mrs. Ralph Ruder, publicity; Mrs. Tom McLaughlin, reservations; Mrs. Matthew Hetrick, invitations; Mrs. James Dowling, invitations, Ent AFB; Mrs. Tom Phillips, invitations, AFA; Mrs. William Duggay, invitations, Carson; Mrs. William Kreuger and Mrs. Paul Huff, telephone; Mrs. Dale Ekiss, Pueblo chairman.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Thomas Messinger, 634-2461. Reservations will be limited.

Joint VFW Meeting Scheduled

This will be a joint meeting with the Veterans of the District, after which they will meet in separate session. Floyd Wohlgenuth, District 5 Commander, will preside at the VFW meeting.

The auxiliary meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Frances McKnight, District 5 president. Auxiliary 101 of Colorado Springs will exemplify the Draping of the Charter ceremonies and the memorial service at this meeting, and, as always, any questions concerning any part of Auxiliary work will be discussed and answered. District president Mrs. McKnight, asks for a good turnout at this meeting and urges all to bring the newer members along so that they may get an idea of the wide scope of the work of the VFW Auxiliary.

District 5 is composed of the following Posts and Auxiliaries: Lt. Marion L. Willis 101 and Pikes Peak 4051, Colorado Springs; Clarence Dzuris 5221, of Calhan; Eldon Housh 5812 of Mattheson; Gold Nugget 6051 of Woodland Park; and Fontaine qui Bouille 6461 of Fountain.

After the business sessions, refreshments will be served, with Lt. Marion L. Willis Auxiliary 101 as hostess. On Wednesday, District president Mrs. McKnight, accompanied by District senior vice president, Zalma Worden, of Woodland Park Auxiliary 6051, made her official visit to Mattheson Auxiliary 5812.

Mrs. Edleman Heads Academy NCO Wives Club

Mrs. Audrey Edleman, newly elected president of the Air Force Academy NCO Wives, accepted the gavel of office during impressive installation ceremonies.

Presiding at the candlelight installation was Mrs. Addy Davidson, the group's second president. The theme of pink and silver was carried out by a pink chrysanthemum centerpiece entwined between curving silver candleholders holding pink candles. Mrs. Loretta Coltrin and Mrs. Marietta Cleary served refreshments. All ladies present received pink roses with their silver name tags. Mrs. Chris Flinn was chairman of the evening. New officers in addition to Mrs. Edleman include Mrs. Martha Gaver, vice president; Mrs. Bette Ross, treasurer; Mrs. Flo Colbert, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Shirley Hairr, recording secretary; and Mrs. Christine Calkins.

Household Goods Sold For Half Million

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A 12-day auction of household effects in the estate of Mrs. Miles Frank Yount ended Sunday with sales totaling $508,758. Auctioneer Samuel Hart estimated 25,000 to 35,000 persons attended the sale of more than 7,000 items assembled from Mrs. Yount's six mansions. Proceeds will go to Miss Mildred Manion of Beaumont, a granddaughter. Mrs. Yount, widow of a southeast Texas oilman, died in October 1962.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Betwixt and Between!

DEAR ABBY: I can't eat anything that has garlic in it. It makes me violently ill. Over the years I have been invited frequently to dine at the home of a long-time friend. She knows I can't eat anything with garlic in it, but every time I am there she has garlic in practically everything. When she sees me take a whiff and then pass something up, she says, "Oh, I forgot!" The last time this happened I lost my temper and replied, "After 22 years?" She then said, "I can't cook a special meal for you. Besides, everyone else seems to like my cooking." I don't want to end my friendship with her because she entertains nicely and has some very interesting guests (artists and musicians). So how should I handle this problem in the future? HATES GARLIC, LIKES PARTIES

DEAR HATES: Your friend obviously doesn't care to go to extra trouble for you. Either decline her dinner invitations and accept for "later," or ask permission to bring a box lunch.

DEAR ABBY: I read in the paper where a man in California said that women who wore slacks on the street should be fined. You tell him to go jump in the lake! Women don't look any worse in slacks than men in Bermuda shorts. Some have knobby knees, and others are bow-legged and as hairy as apes. I am a 59-year-old woman with arthritis, and my doctor told me to keep my legs warm, so I wear slacks every chance I get. And anybody who doesn't like it doesn't have to look. Sign me —WARM AND COMFY.

DEAR WARM: I am sure that there is no objection to "slacks" that are properly tailored. The man who complained may have been referring to those "stretch pants" that look as though they had been put on with a spray gun.

DEAR ABBY: If men are really not more important in the sight of God, why then in all Biblical references is the man always mentioned first when speaking of father and mother? —BIBLE STUDENT

DEAR STUDENT: This is not true. Although the Ten Commandments say, "Honor thy FATHER and mother," in Leviticus, Chapter XIX, Verse 3, it enjoins every man to fear (revere) his MOTHER and his father.

Mrs. Bounds Heads Alpha Delta Pi

The regular meeting of Alpha Delta Pi Alumnae was held at the home of Mrs. Harlam Ochs, 3119 Wellshire Blvd.

An election of officers was held during the business meeting. Elected as president was Mrs. Jack Bounds; vice president, Mrs. Frank Zettle; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Ken Ochs; publicity chairman, Mrs. James Orr.

Outgoing officers are: president, Mrs. E. H. Bass; vice president, Mrs. Joe Wallace; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Jack Bounds.

Recommendations were discussed for rush week at Delta Chi Chapter, Colorado State Teachers College at Greeley.

The group decided to continue sending cookies to the children at Rocky Mountain Rehabilitation Center.

A poll was taken to see what college or university each member attended. The country as a whole was well represented but Colorado and Kansas had the largest number in attendance.

Any Alpha Delta Phi who has not been contacted for meeting may call Mrs. Jack Bounds, 636-1702.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: We had to drill some holes for the screws but it was certainly worth the effort. —Mrs. Hansen

Dear Heloise: I am 76 years old and have been keeping house 53 years. I have crowds of kids and grandkids but no great grandkids yet!

I sprinkle salt on fabrics which have iron rust, then squeeze some fresh lemon juice (straight from a lemon and not a bottle) and scour as usual. This may take a second application but it works if you lay it out in the sun.

And, Heloise, when I fry chicken livers I pierce them "good and plenty" with my kitchen fork. This way there is no more popping at "you" —Old Dog —New Tricks.

Dear Heloise: What is your one expensive luxury? Surely you have something that you indulge in which is above and beyond the necessities of life. Won't you share this with your neighbors? —Your Coffee Friends

Dear Heloise: Yes, I do have one luxury. It's incense!

Having lived in China and Japan, I find that this few cents I spend for incense is most uplifting and inspiring. I don't know what it does, but no matter how poor the Chinese or Japanese are, they always burn incense.

After my family gets off to work and school, and before I get to work, I light two cubes of incense. I place one in the living room and one in the back part of my house in an ash tray. This odor is so uplifting that it gives me inspiration to keep going because I know my house must be worthy. It makes me feel like a lady.

Incense may be bought for 15 cents to 20 cents at the "dime store." I figure this costs me less than one-half cent to burn one! So why not? —Love Always, Heloise Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

Celebrates 94th Birthday

Mrs. Bertha P. Skjoldahl observed her 94th birthday Friday, Jan. 24, at the Milra Nursing Home, where she has been a resident for the past year.

Mrs. Skjoldahl was born on a farm in Norway in 1870. She made her home with an aunt who had no children of her own. Much of her childhood was spent tending goats high in the mountains of Norway. The only schooling she had was when it did not conflict with her work on the farm.

About 1900, she came to America and lived with a brother in Minneapolis before coming to Colorado Springs. In 1908, she married to Mr. Martin Skjoldahl, who operated a shoe shop here for many years before his death in 1937. They were married here at the Emmanuel Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Skjoldahl is the oldest living member of Our Savior's Lutheran Church and is a charter member of Columbine Chapter, Women of the Moose. Her daughter, Mrs. Martha Burnside lives in San Francisco, and her two sons, Oscar and Brig-

Goren on Bridge

By CHARLES H. GOREN

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q 1—As South you hold: Spades, K-6-2; Hearts, 7-5; Diamonds, K-9-4; Clubs, Q-8-7-2. The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1Hrt. Pass 1NT. Pass 3Hrts. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Three notrump. While it is true that partner's jump rebid is not forcing, nevertheless your response was based on sound values and did not involve any shading. The routine call of three notrump is therefore recommended.

Q 2—As South you hold: Spades, K-6-4-2; Hearts, J-8-3; Diamonds, K-Q-9-7; Clubs, 5. The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1Hrt. Pass 1Dia. Pass 1Hrt. Pass ?

What do you do now?

A—Happy to have improved the contract, you should relax and feel that you have done your full duty by this hand. There is no second call that should even tempt you.

Q 3—Both sides vulnerable and as South you hold: Spades, A-K-6-4-3; Hearts, 7; Diamonds, A-J-6-3; Clubs, A-K-8. The bidding has proceeded: South West North East—1Spd. Dbl. 2Clbs. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Four clubs. In fact we would not look askance at a direct leap to game. Although partner's bid over the double does not show strength, it should be based on a long club suit which is just about all you require from him to score a game.

Q 4—As South you hold: Spades, A-10-8-6; Hearts, A-J-10-7-5-2; Diamonds, 6; Clubs, 7-3. The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1Dia. Pass 1Hrt. Pass 2Clbs. Pass 2Spds. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—The suggested bid is one spade. There are several choices which include rebidding diamonds and supporting hearts. The hand is too strong for a mere two diamond rebid, and not quite strong enough for a jump to three diamonds, so that the choice narrows down. While the bid of one spade is not forcing, partner will nevertheless in these circumstances exert every effort to speak again and a better idea of the contents of his hand may be obtained from his next move.

Q 7—As South you hold: Spades, K-8-4-3; Hearts, K-5-2; Diamonds, A-K-4-3; Clubs, J-6. Partner opens with one club. What is your response?

A—Inasmuch as your hand is the equal of an opening bid it is your purpose to reach a game contract. You have the necessary values (14 points) for a two notrump response and such a call is acceptable. My own preference, however, is for a temporizing bid of one diamond, to afford partner the opportunity to show a mild four card spade suit at the level of one. In that case I would vigorously support the major. If the three of spades were a club the only acceptable response would be two notrump.

Q 8—As South you hold: Spades, 5-4; Hearts, K-J-10-9-7-2; Diamonds, A-K-4; Clubs, 9-3. The bidding has proceeded: East South West North 1Hrt. Pass Pass Pass ?

What is your opening lead?

A—You should start drawing trumps at once to prevent declarer from using any of his little ones for ruffing. The best head is the king of hearts. This allows for the remote chance that dummy or partner has a singleton queen. If declarer has the ace and queen, it makes no difference because he must make them both.

Cook's Tour

By JEANNE LESEME

United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Even the replicas of the St. Bernards will be made of cheese at Switzerland's chalet-style restaurant at the 1964-65 World's Fair.

Mrs. Fernande Duriaux created the special recipe for a snack food to appeal to both children and adults, and named it for the famed Alpine rescue dogs. Her St. Bernards will be slices of fried gruyere cheese on toast with sliced tomatoe vinaigrette on the side.

Mrs. Duriaux is planning restaurant menus and decor and her husband, Marcel, is in charge of general development of the Swiss pavilion. In an interview, she said she'd spent the past 18 months traveling in her native Switzerland to gather authentic recipes.

Except for the St. Bernards, the menu will feature such typical Swiss dishes as cheese fondue, fondue bourguignonne, raclette, ramequin, emince de veau and roesti.

Fondue is a special occasion dish even in Switzerland, she said, where it is popular for after-ski parties. It is made with Emmenthaler cheese (usually called Swiss cheese in America) melted in white wine and flavored with kirsch, a cherry liquor. Custom calls for each guest in turn to dip cubes of bread into the simmering fondue at the table.

The wife of a Swiss legislator making, as she does at her own cafe in a small town in Switzerland, said Mrs. Duriaux Cheese fondue originated with a pacifist monk who worked out a settlement in a 15th century religious war, added Mrs. Duriaux. He invited the disputing parties to share la soupe au lait de Kappel (cheese and milk soup), the ancestor of modern cheese fondue.

Fondue bourguignonne, by contrast, is about 10 years old, she said. It was created by a restaurant owner near the castle of Chillon. Each guest cooks cubes of beef to his own taste in a pot of simmering fat on the table, then dips it into any of several kinds of sauce. Salads also are served with it, said Mrs. Duriaux.

Both raclette and ramequin are cheese appetizers. For raclette, a large piece of creamy white cheese is held before a fire or an electric grill until the surface melts. The melting cheese is scraped onto a dish and served immediately with pickled onions. Each guest is served this way in turn. Ramequins are miniature tartlets with unsweetened cheese-egg custard filling.

Emince de veau is finely diced veal cooked with onions in butter and served with roesti, Swiss fried potatoes that resemble American home fries. Roesti also is part of a typical peasant breakfast and a staple at supper, with cheese or eggs and cafe au lait, coffee with milk.

No fish, no chicken, no lamb? I asked.

"Seafood is such a luxury in Switzerland," said Mrs. Duriaux. "We do have pichouse, like bouillabaisse (French fish stew) but made of Lake Geneva fish—but we cannot get the ingredients here."

The Swiss eat primarily veal and beef, raised on Alpine slopes, she said, adding that chickens, too, were a luxury until the United States began selling frozen ones abroad.

Other authentic products at the Swiss restaurant will include red, white and rose wines and two kinds of rich layer cakes, flown in daily — kirsch torten, with cherry liquor cream filling, and Swiss chocolate cake with chocolate cream filling and nuts. With all the walking the Fair visitors will do, the extra calories should present no weight problem.

As for recipes, said Mrs. Duriaux, she isn't giving away secrets this early, but her extensive travels in the United States have taught her that Americans are inveterate recipe collectors. So she plans to include a few in souvenir menus at the Fair.

SPADEA DESIGNER PATTERN

N-1197

Jo Copeland

Make It in Navy Blue

Jo Copeland, an unimpeachable source of authoritative fashion information, has more than hinted that navy blue is going to sail into spring with a twenty one gun salute. Always a navy fan, Jo thinks it is at its best with a touch of foamy white and perhaps a spot of signal red, and here presents the winning combination of all three.

The overblouse of the two-piece costume has a narrow V-cut-out to show-off the slip-stitched-in dickey that might be starched organdy, pique, faille or linen. Right beneath it on the right side are two long darts that more than suggest shape without really hugging the figure. For further figure accent, she places her bustline darts high and coming right out of the armhole gussets, a trick that lifts and feminizes the bosom.

Pin on a red geranium or cluster of carnations, and you have the costume that will mark you as a fashion know-it-all. She also implores you to make two dummies so that you can change off and always look crisp and pristine. ## Groundhog Wakes Up Early in Florida

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The groundhog woke up early! Woody, the groundhog, is the pet of 14-year-old John L. Brackins. She hibernated in Virginia and was enjoying her long-winter nap until the family moved from Virginia to Florida. The trip and the change of climate jolted her awake a month before she was supposed to look for her shadow.

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

WASHINGTON — Whom would President Johnson name to fill the present Vice Presidential vacancy if he had the power? This is a question properly posed today, for a Senate subcommittee is now holding hearings on the Presidential succession problem. One proposal would give the President authority to fill the vacancy.

For age reasons alone, Johnson certainly would not name either of the two members of Congress now in the direct line of succession, House Speaker John McCormack, 72, and Senate President Pro Tem Carl Hayden, 86.

Nor is it obvious that he would select an outstanding Congressional Democrat such as Sen. Hubert Humphrey (Minn.) or Sen. Eugene McCarthy (Minn.), even if they rate consideration as the President's potential November running mate.

He rather might well turn to someone in his official family, if for no other reason than that individuals like Secretary of State Rusk and Defense Secretary McNamara have a valued experience in the executive branch and are at least one rung above the partisan political level.

As an interim Vice President, either could conceivably give the nation a feeling of security on the "one heartbeat away from the Presidency" issue, pending the next election.

For purely political reasons neither would fit into the probable Johnson plans for a 1964 election victory. It is an old American political custom to choose a running mate to put before the voters on the basis of what states he can help carry and what ethnic and religious groups he can appeal to.

But if the proposal to empower the President to name a Vice President were translated into law shortly, at least someone of definite national prestige and of White House caliber could be in the second spot for a few months.

PROPOSAL BACKED BY AMERICAN BAR GROUP

This is too much to hope for, although it is admitted that such a way to fill the present void would have the best chance of getting through Congress.

It is being pushed by Chairman Birch Bayh (D-Ind.) of the Senate Constitutional Amendments subcommittee and by an American Bar Association-sponsored study group of eminent lawyers.

Bayh said at today's hearing that he considered it far and away the "best way to make certain that the nation always has a Vice President as well as a President."

The proposal is simple enough. It provides that when a Vice President assumes the Presidency, he immediately must nominate a new Vice President who would have to be confirmed by Congress, House and Senate would sit in joint session to act on the nomination. A simple majority vote of the 535 legislators in both bodies would be required.

Youths to Have Chance at Summer Jobs

Seniors graduating from Colorado high schools who plan to study conservation in college have a rare opportunity for special summer jobs, thanks to a training program partially sponsored by the Colorado Wildlife Federation.

Young men selected from Colorado will compete with others for 13 jobs with the U.S. Department of the Interior this summer.

Employment will be available with the Fish and Wildlife Service, Bureau of Land Management, Geological Survey and other government branches in this cooperative program administered by the National Wildlife Federation and the Izaak Walton League of America.

State affiliates, the Colorado Wildlife Federation here, are now seeking applications from youngsters. The boy must be 18 by June 15, have definite plans to enter college for study in some natural resources field, rank above average scholastically and be interested in this type of summer work.

In order to apply he should obtain a Form 57, Federal Employment Application, at any Post Office, complete it and send it, together with a transcript of high school grades, a list of extra-curricular activities, a statement of intent to pursue a natural resources course of study in college, and a written recommendation from a responsible adult to Dr. Ronald A. Ryder, Colorado State University, Fort Collins, the state affiliate coordinator.

Dr. Ryder must have the material in his hands no later than April 1, 1964.

Attempted Kiss Brings Injury As Car Hits Curb

A driver leaned over to kiss his girl friend and ran his car into a curb early Sunday morning, police reported.

Phyllis Ann Dolyniuk, 22, of 2908 N. Parker St., suffered a head cut and was treated at St. Francis Hospital.

Andrew Frykman, 26, of 1002 Oxford Lane was driving the eastbound car. He told police he learned over to kiss Miss Dolyniuk and the car went out of control.

Police ticketed Frykman for careless driving and injury to city property.

Byron Janis, Guest Artist With Symphony Thursday

Pianist Byron Janis will become the first guest artist Thursday to play a return engagement with the Colorado Springs Symphony Orchestra.

Janis will perform Tchaikovsky's Piano Concerto No. 1 to highlight the program of Beethoven, Milhaud and Tchaikovsky.

Beethoven's Symphony No. 8 has been selected by conductor Walter Eisenberg to open the evening's concert. The choice of this work, rather than the usual overture, is explained in the nature of the symphony itself.

The Eighth Symphony is a lighter composition than are his better known symphonies. It is both humorous and serenely beautiful. Its performance will afford an acquaintance with a less known facet of the composer's work.

The Suite Française by Milhaud, as played on Thursday, will present four movements in which are heard folk tunes of France. Milhaud, a foremost musical figure in France prior to World War II, composed the suite in America after he had fled the Nazi occupation.

Now a resident of California, Milhaud is familiar to Coloradans thru his activities with the Aspen music festival. Thru his great versatility as a composer, he has been a leader in the most inventive forms of modern composition and has also composed scores for Hollywood films.

The movements of the Suite Française to be heard on Thursday night are Normandie, Ile de France, Alceste-Lorraine, and Provence.

The Tchaikovsky Concerto will be performed following the intermission. The work is perhaps the best known of all concertos, both because of its melody's being borrowed for use in popular tunes, and also because of its perennial favor in concert halls.

The concerto is a powerful piece of music, and, played by virtuoso Byron Janis who is known for brilliance and intensity, the performance promises to produce an exciting concert.

Janis is the first guest artist to appear twice in Colorado Springs with the symphony. His earlier appearance was a memorable occasion for which he won outstanding acclaim.

The concert on Thursday, January 30, will be in Palmer High School at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are available at the box office at 208½ N. Tejon from noon until 5:00, or by phoning 633-1602.

The emphasis of the well-composed and fast-paced film was on the most spectacular sights of Mexico - modern as well as ancient - with the old ruins of temples of pyramids getting their full share.

As a result, the film, and Walker's accompanying lecture, has the happy quality of being chockful with comments, facts, and information, for those who may plan to see Mexico sometime, as well as for those who wanted a glimpse of the country, and the ones who have been the Mexico found in the film many nostalgic sights to enjoy and remember.

Walker observed there is a misconception among many people, who regard Mexico as a kind of desert or semi-desert. The film of course, disproves this most effectively and graphically. Mexico is endowed with a tremendous variety of scenery, and with wide-ranging culture, from that of the villages to that of the modern Mexico City, which is a city of five million inhabitants.

Geographically, as Walker pointed out in his lecture, and as the film amply illustrates, even though some parts of Mexico may be desert, other parts are lush with vegetation; there are plains but even more there are mountains, and no tall of them seem to be volcanoes, but many of the mountain slopes are verdant with greenery and cool summer resorts in the Pines.

Guadalajara, of course, and other places with their innumerable, colorful fiestas, came for full exposure in the film; and after revealing glimpses of many other beautiful spots, the film, naturally, ends with the spectacular divers at famous Acapulco.

CHAP Elects New Officers

The Children Have a Potential (CHAP) program at Ent AFB has elected new officers and re-emphasized their aim of providing assistance and activities for families with handicapped children.

The program will now receive valuable local support from the NCO Academy Alumni Association who will provide assistance for various internal projects.

New officers are: T.Sgt. and Mrs. Jim Taylor, chairman; M. Sgt. and Mrs. Dick Paige, secretary; M.Sgt. and Mrs. Arthur Clark Jr., treasurer; and M.Sgt. and Mrs. John Setterstrom, publicity.

Another base service organization, Family Services, represented by Mrs. Mildred Walton, reiterated its support and assistance to the CHAP program. A preview of a CHAP brochure, to be released in the near future, was also given.

Due to the success of the Christmas party sponsored by CHAP, plans are underway for an Easter Egg hunt.

At the close of the meeting, Cmdr. and Mrs. G. K. Ebbe were accorded appreciation and thanks for their active leadership in the local CHAP program since November, 1962.

Travelogue on Mexico Proves Very Popular

A colorful tourist's eye view of Mexico is being given by Phil Walker in sparkling film and commentary, in the Horizons Unlimited Travelogues series, at the Fine Arts Center.

Walker launched his "Mexico" Sunday afternoon, and will repeat it tonight in the FAC auditorium.

The popularity of the subject matter can be judged from the fact that the auditorium was filled to capacity for the first event.

The emphasis of the well-composed and fast-paced film was on the most spectacular sights of Mexico - modern as well as ancient - with the old ruins of temples of pyramids getting their full share.

As a result, the film, and Walker's accompanying lecture, has the happy quality of being chockful with comments, facts, and information, for those who may plan to see Mexico sometime, as well as for those who wanted a glimpse of the country, and the ones who have been the Mexico found in the film many nostalgic sights to enjoy and remember.

Gen. Thatcher Hosts Southern Civic Leaders

Lt. Gen. Herbert B. Thatcher, commander of Air Defense Command (ADC), is host to a group of 11 southeastern civic leaders visiting Air Force installations in the Pikes Peak Region.

The group arrived by air at Peterson Field, Sunday afternoon.

This morning they toured the Air Force Academy, and had lunch at the Cadet Mess.

Lt. Gen. Robert H. Terrill, vice commander for ADC, welcomed the visitors and briefed them on the aerospace defense mission of the command. Following this briefing, Maj. Gen. Von R. Shores, acting chief of staff, ADC, presented the group with visitor certificates.

Later today they will receive a North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), presentation and tour of the Combat Operations Center.

The members of the group, primarily from the states of Florida and Alabama, are: John M. Spottswood, Florida state senator; James R. Dresler, Florida state representative; Richard J. Conley, mayor of Homestead, Fla.; Richmond Flowers, attorney general, state of Alabama; D. Eugene Loe, circuit judge, Montgomery, Ala.; William J. Mahoney Jr.; Carter Hardwick; L. B. Whitfield III; Frank Whitfield; Sam Pharr; and Phillip Sellers.

Accompanying the visitors will be Brig. Gen. Hubert S. Judy, commander of the Montgomery, Ala., Air Defense Sector; Lt. Col. Henry A. McPhillips, of the 32nd NORAD Region; and Capt. Robert Dunneville, aide.

Explorer Scouts Snow Party Guests Sunday

Explorer Scouts of Ship 63 were guests Saturday at a snow party given by Post 23 at the John Wesley Youth Ranch near Divide.

Guests besides the 15 Scouts and their leaders were Mr. and Mrs. James Hurd, Skipper Milo Sarchet and Scout executive Jim Wiant and Mrs. Wiant.

Following an afternoon of winter sports, a chili supper was served in the lodge with dancing and games completing the evening.

Arrangements were made by Gary Link, Jim Poch and Jon Thomas.

Ship 63 is sponsored by the Knob Hill Lions Club and Post 23 by Methodist Men of the First Methodist Church. Any boy 14 years or older is eligible for the Explorer program.

Armed Forces News

By STEVE TILLMAN

WASHINGTON (Special to Gazette Telegraph) — The new approved budget calls for a 1964 pay increase of 2.4 percent for enlisted men and a 3 percent increase for officers.

Congress is expected to include officers with less than two years of service in the increase but not enlisted men. If the officers are included it will mean an increase for cadets and midshipmen.

In the budget press briefings at the Pentagon the point was made that Secretary Robert McNamara wants a pay increase annually for the military rather than on the "hit or miss" basis of the past.

Congressional members are greatly concerned over the increasing costs of the budget for retired pay. Not all of the increase is due to the actual number who have been retired. Budget Bureau sources intimate that about 25 percent of the increase over the past few years has been due to poorly written retirement laws and equally unsupported liberal interpretation of the laws governing retirement. There may be some effort made in 1964 or 1965 to tighten up on retirement.

Due to political elections coming up in 1964, the Association of the U.S. Army has postponed its annual meeting for this year from October to Nov. 16. The association's 1964 Gen. George C. Marshall Award is expected to go to late President John F. Kennedy.

The Air Force Association is planning to ask Congress to eliminate all restrictions against retired officers when the Senate committee resumes hearings on the dual compensation law.

Secretary of the Navy Paul Nitze has accepted the resignation of President Johnson as a Naval Reserve commander. This action is expected to be followed by resignations by some members of Congress of their Reserve commissions.

1965 will see more Air Force bases closed out in line with phase-out of B-47's.

Who Wants to Be Pushed Around? Visiting Prof Says

The basic problem in America today is to prevent some people from pushing other people around, according to Sylvester Petro, visiting professor at the Freedom School Phron-tistry.

Dr. Petro is speaking this week at the phron-tistry being sponsored at the school from November thru April. He is the seventh professor, with four more to come.

Petro posed the question, "Who wants to be pushed around?"

Answering his own question, he said, "I've never met anyone who wanted to be pushed around. If a man is thinking straight, it ought not to make any difference if he is pushed by a union organizer or anyone else, he ought to object to it."

"Yet everywhere in the country it is tolerated as long as it is union bullies who are pushing," he said.

What this nation needs is the enforcement of laws against violence and coercion, Petro said.

By way of illustration, he pointed out, "People have their heads broken if they refused to join a union or refuse to strike."

"The people of the United States and their governments must refuse to sit still any longer for violence being used against others. We must not allow anyone to push anyone else around," he stated.

His principal recommendation to solve the case is to have a single set of laws that apply equally to all unions and all businessmen, he said.

The doctor is 46, born in Chicago, educated in Catholic schools, took an A.B. degree in English Literature and then earned a degree in law, getting both degrees at the University of Chicago. He now is professor of law at New York University, New York, specializing in anti-trust laws and labor law.

CU Extension Registrations Set for Monday

Registration for spring semester courses presented by the University of Colorado Extension Center in Colorado Springs will be held at three locations beginning Monday, and continuing thru Friday.

The general public may register at the Extension Center's classroom building, Jackson House, southeast corner of San Rafael and Nevada Avenues, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday.

Air Force and Army personnel may register at the following locations:

Ent Base Theatre, 2:30 to 5 p.m. Monday.

Academy Education Office, 3:30 to 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Ft. Carson Education Center, 4 to 6:30 p.m. Friday.

First-year students enrolling for degree work, as well as students planning to enroll in freshman English and mathematics, must take the required placement tests which will be given at 7 p.m. Wednesday at Jackson House.

Academic advising and course scheduling may be done at the various registrations listed above by representatives of the schools and colleges of the university. Prospective students do not need to bring past school records or high school diplomas to begin course work.

Transfer students who wish to earn residence credit from CU will facilitate their registration by bringing transcripts. Further information may be secured by calling 632-7316.

Mrs. Amanda Coard Dies; Rites Tuesday

Mrs. Amanda J. Coard, 917 W. Colorado Ave., died Saturday at a local hospital. She was a member of the First Methodist Church, and had been a resident of Colorado Springs 65 years.

Mrs. Coard was born in Quincy, Ill., Dec. 19, 1872. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Mildred Longfield and Mrs. Galdys Clark, both of Colorado Springs; two brothers, Albert Stulp, Yuma, Colo., and Oscar Stulp, Burlington, Kan.; three grandchildren, five great-children and one great-great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday at the Swan Drawing Room, Dr. Ben F. Leimbach, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

DR. SYLVESTER PETRO

form one general field of interest, he said.

"Anti-trust laws say that a businessman can't do what unions do all the time. If a group of businessmen fixed prices, they would be sent to jail, but when the president of the Teamsters Union puts over a nationwide contract — he gets more money," Petro.

Explaining further, he said if a group of businessmen attempted to put a competitor out of business by picketing it, they would go to jail. "Yet unions do this all the time and nothing happens," he said.

While lecturing at the phron-tistry, he aims to:

"Explain how the free enterprise system came into existence from more primitive and less well designed systems of society that it grew out of."

"Free enterprise is the newest form of social organization that exists on the earth," Petro declared.

"Socialism, communism, the New Deal, all are old forms of organization tried before," he added.

"The extraordinary results of the American free enterprise system have never been recognized," he charged.

"People have failed to recognize that the system that has developed in the last 200 years in America (capitalism) is without precedent in the annals of mankind," Petro said.

"Not only is the system novel and extraordinary, but its continued progress of every kind on all levels has never in world history known a parallel," he continued.

Petro said that the same development could have taken place in other countries if the right principles had been adopted into society.

"To illustrate, nowhere else has the principle of private property been in so dominant a role. Everywhere else the governments have always taken on more functions — many more functions than our government did in the past. But now we are developing an European system with the government being involved in more things," he said.

Petro dated the change with the New Deal and President Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration, which began in 1933.

By way of pointing out the differences, he said, "Our government, until recently confined itself to preserving and protecting the freedom of individuals, but that has changed."

Local Student To Head Petticoat Reign

Janet Appleman, a sophomore majoring in speech at the University of Denver, will "take over" a top position in the administration of her university Monday in a non-violent revolution designated "Pettycoat Reign."

Miss Appleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Appleman, 822 North Weber St., will become assistant dean of students of the 106-year-old university for the day. She and 31 other coeds will "fill" the top administrative posts at DU by spending the day with the officials, observing and participating in their conferences and decisions.

The event, sponsored by the Associated Women Students of DU, is aimed at providing the students an appreciation of the roles and responsibilities of administrators and to increase their understandings about executive positions.

Miss Appleman was graduated in 1962 from the William J. Palmer High School in Colorado Springs.

CC Students Named to Honor Society

Twenty-one seniors and two juniors at Colorado College have been selected to Phi Beta Kappa, the national scholastic honor society.

The new Phi Beta Kappa candidates were announced by Professor Richard C. Bradley of the Colorado College physics department and president of the local chapter.

They will be initiated into the honor society during a special dinner at the Broadmoor Hotel Feb. 20.

In addition to the newly elected members, two seniors who first were elected last year also are being honored. They are Maria Bullock, Denver, and David L. Bitters of Leewood, Kan.

More than half of the group is from Colorado. The others represent eight states. Six are from Colorado Springs and three from Denver.

Six members of the group are majoring in mathematics at the independent liberal arts college. Psychology and political science tie for second with three representatives each. History, French and English had two each. Other departments represented include chemistry, physics, economics, Spanish, and zoology.

Since the society was founded in 1776, election to the Phi Beta Kappa has been recognized as the hall-mark of scholarship.

The students selected this year by members of the Phi Beta Kappa chapter at Colorado College are the 58th group since the society first was established at the college in 1874.

The two juniors elected this year are Paul Langford Carson, a physics major, and Catherine Jane Grant, a psychology major. Carson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit L. Carson of 4790 South Jason, Englewood. Miss Grant is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. G. Preston Grant of 3842 So. Columbia Pike No. 202, Arlington, Va.

The following 21 are the newly elected seniors, together with their major fields of study:

Susan Kepp Arentz, a Spanish major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Arentz of 1800 Orchard Dr., Salt Lake City, Utah; Mary Choice Bardone, a political science major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bardone of 7933 Lamar, Prairie Village, Kan.; Judith Mayo Clark, a political science major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Clark, of 1010 West Louise, Grand Island, Neb.

Stefan Feyock, a mathematics major, son of Mrs. Herta Feyock of 1914 N. 7th St., Colorado Springs; Charles Thomas Gibbon, a mathematics major, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Gibbon, 6530 Sausbury Court, Arvada; Linda Ann Harrison, a mathematics major, daughter of Mrs. Clifford W. Harrison of 1156 Albion, Denver; Walter Edwin Hecox, an economics major, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris B. Hecox, Sr., 11880 Swadley Dr., Denver; Robert Lowell Heiney, a mathematics major, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Heiney, 1752 N. 7th, Grand Junction; Susan Barbara Hille, a French major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. O. Hille, 175 Sunset, Boulder; Norman Eugene Liden, a mathematics major, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Liden, 1320 E. Buena Ventura St.; Carol Sue Marchert Matoush, a psychology major of 1228 N. Cooper St.; Fay Elaine Douglas Metcalf (Mrs. W.T.), a history major, of 2328 N. Logan Ave.; Jennie Pearson Moore, a zoology major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Moore of 538 Bank St., Ashland, O.; Michael William Orem, a chemistry major, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Orem of 506 Albion Ave., Fairmont, Minn.

Elizabeth Ann Ross, a mathematics major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Ross of 1101 Logan Place, Colorado Springs; Stephanie Gwynn Row, a French major, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. R. Wright of 717 Francis St., Longmont, Colo.; Harris Daniel Sherman, a history major, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sherman of 626 Detroit St., Denver, Colo.; Ruth Anne Mayer Thompson (Mrs. J. L.), an English major, of 3314 Virginia Ave.

Jean Elizabeth Torcom, a political science major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manas M. Torcom, Jr., 532 Vine Ave., Park Ridge, Ill.; Elizabeth Alden Turkey (Mrs. Robert H.), an English major, of 5239 S. Huron Way, Littleton; Carol Lee Wright, a psychology major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Wright of 35 Circle Dr., Hot Springs, Ark.

St. Mary's Fast Break Overcomes Mt. Carmel

By CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer
DENVER — Dan Wright's revamped Pirates found success with a run-gun offense over the weekend as the St. Mary's edition made a clean sweep in this Mile High City, defeating two Denver Parochial League opponents.

After dropping three home contests, Wright injected the fast break into the Pirates' offense and the results were overwhelming as the DPL defenders recorded three straight outtings to post a 5-3 won-loss record. This puts the Pirates in sole possession of third place in league standings.

The Colorado Springs five initiated the weekend visit here with a stunning triumph over highly respected St. Francis on Friday, and Sunday the Bucs waxed another challenger, Mt. Carmel, 78-56, at the St. Joseph's gymnasium.

This weekend the Springs team will host Cathedral on Friday night, and then the Bucs march into the Regis den seeking revenge and possible title contention with a victory over the Raiders, the present undefeated DPL leaders. It was the Raiders that handed the Pirates their first home court loss in three years in both squads league opener.

In other DPL games Sunday, Regis picked up its eighth straight victory over Machebeuf, 55-42; St. Francis topped St. Joseph's, 57-50; Annunciation turned back Mullen, 54-44; and Holy Family led Cathedral, 50-46, when the latter team filed a protest with 15 seconds remaining in the game and walked off the court.

One change in DPL scheduling has the Regis-St. Francis game, originally scheduled for Tuesday night, to be held Thursday night instead at the St. Francis gymnasium. Game time is 8 p.m.

Indoor Track Records Fall in Weekend Meets

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
A flock of indoor track and field records—most of the obscure variety—were broken or tied in four weekend meets as Olympic hopefuls from many nations heightened their preparations for Tokyo, only to have the thunder stolen by a couple of Down Under distance men.

Tiny Albie Thomas of Australia, who equaled the three-mile mark in Toronto Friday, and New Zealand's Bill Baille, who just missed the two-mile record in Portland Saturday, were the stars of the indoor circuit despite the record efforts of sprinter Bob Hayes and veteran hurdler Hayes Jones.

The 5-foot-4, 124-pound Thomas equaled the world indoor three-mile record in 13:26.4 while Baille finished the two-mile in 8:31.9, just 1.2 seconds off the record.

Jones, the Detroit veteran who now has won 49 consecutive indoor hurdles events, rushed to a 5.9 time over four hurdles and 50 yards in Toronto, breaking his own world record of six seconds flat.

The barrel-chested Hayes, competing in Albuquerque, ran a six second flat 60-yard dash, equalling the record.

In Winnipeg, Tom Robinson of the Bahamas, established a world record for the rarely-run 300-meters, finishing in 35 seconds flat. Other top performances there included a 61-2 shot put by Parry O'Brien of Pasadena and Bill Croth's 1:09.7 run in the 600 yards.

Ralph Boston scored a double in the Oregon meet, winning the 60-yard hurdles in 7.3 and the broad jump with 25-8.

Top performances in Toronto also included 16-foot pole vaults by John Pennel of Northeast Louisiana State and Jeff Chase, Santa Clara, Calif.; a 2:08.3 effort in the 1,000 yards by Croth's and a 1:12.3 600 by George Kerr of Jamaica.

Olympic Problems Tackled

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor
INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—The Winter Olympics moved on to the conference table stage today after a return to the drawing board produced added safety measures expected to end an unprecedented series of training accidents that have claimed two lives.

At the conference table, officials were expected to tackle these problems:

1. A protest by the U.S. ski team that seedings based on competition in European events were unfair to the Americans.

2. The Canada-Russia cold war stemming from Soviet charges that the Canadian hockey team plays the game too rough.

3. South Africa's racial policies, and the country's eligibility for the 1964 Summer Olympics in Tokyo.

Meanwhile, competition got underway two days before the official opening of the games with a pair of elimination ice hockey games, and skiers and slidders returned to practice on courses renovated by the weekend session on the drawing board.

New lips had been added to the dangerous curves of the toboggan run, two extra compulsory gates were installed along the men's downhill, the women's downhill received three extra gates and the trunks of trees lining both courses were heavily padded with straw.

Ross Milne, a young Australian skier, was killed Saturday when he careened off the downhill course and crashed head-on into a tree. On Wednesday, a British tobogganer, Kazimierz Kay-Skrzypski, died of injuries received when his sled shot off the lipless chute.

In Sunday's practices, a pair of British bobsledders hurtled their two-man sled down the track in record time. John Balfanz of Minneapolis was the best of the American ski jumpers and U.S. women speed skaters were outclassed by the Russians.

Britain's Anthony Nash and Robin Dixon made one run down the course in 1:06.06, bettering the time of 1:06.42 set by Italy's Eugenio Monti in last year's world championships.

The British team also had the best two-run time of 2:13.20. At the jumping site, Balfanz made a stylish leap of 251 feet, and Dave Hicks of Duluth, Minn., and Ansten Samuelsen of Boulder, Colo., soared 246, but all were well back of Norway's Torger Brandtzaeg. Brandtzaeg made four jumps ranging from 254 to 257 feet.

Russian women swept to the first four places in the 500-meter speed skating event and took the first two places in the 1,500. Lidia Skoblikova, Russian double gold medal winner in 1960, bettered her Olympic record in the 1,500 and Irina Yegorova took the 500.

The top American in the 500 was Marie Lawler of Minneapolis, who finished fifth, one place in front of Janice Smith of Rochester, N.Y. In the 1,500, Jeanne Ashworth of Lake Placid, N.Y. finished eighth and Miss Smith ninth.

Top Yank Team Still Trails Reds

By GENE KRAMER
INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—This may be the strongest U.S. women's speed skating team ever sent to the Olympics but they'll have to go some to catch the Russians.

That's the rinkside talk as girls from the top skating nations prep for the four Olympic races starting next Thursday with the 500 meters. The men's races come later.

U.S. coaches visibly were disappointed with the results of two international time trials Sunday in which the Soviet women swept the first four places in the 500 meters and the first two in the 1,500.

Lidia Skoblikova, double gold medalist at the 1960 Squaw Valley, Calif. Olympics, bettered her own Olympic record of 2:25.0 with a flawless 2:23.6 victory in the 500 meter. Teammate Irina Yegorova won the 500 in 46 seconds flat.

Marie Lawler of Minneapolis was the highest-ranked American, placing fifth in the 500 at 46.8.

"Marie, you were the only one who even skated," said team manager Phillip Krumm of Kenosha, Wis. "The others were too tight—just like beginners."

Coach Leo Freisinger of Los Angeles told a reporter:

"This is the strongest American girls' team ever brought to the Olympics. The only thing that keeps them from winning is lack of experience. They throw out a lot of steam without results."

Freisinger said the Americans tense up, "forget what I tell them," and spend their energy downward into the ice instead of forward.

Russian team manager Boris Lomakin observed that the U.S. girls "are tough physically but weak on technique."

Two Finnish girls, Kaija Mustonen and Kaija Kekkonen, broke Russian domination of the 1500 by taking third and fourth place with times of 2:29.2 and 2:29.4.

Gumilla Jacobson, the 17-year-old Swedish sensation who will be vying with the Americans and Finns for the silver and bronze medals, had a cold and did not skate Sunday. Her coach said she would be back on the rink today.

it required three different pirate defenders to slow him down, but not until he collected 27 points on nine field goals and nine charity tosses. Babish also cleared the boards for 12 caroms.

David Grantz led the Pirates in scoring with 14 points, followed by Joe Jezek with a dozen, and Tom McCarthy and Dick Pfalmer each with 11 points. Grantz collected eight of his 14 points in the opening period. The senior forward proved successful in executing the fast break and free-lancing. In addition to his scoring and defensive play, Pfalmer, the squad's top scorer, also was the mainstay under the boards as the 6-3 senior came up with 11 rebounds followed by 6-5 Ralph Layman's 11 caroms.

The St. Mary's new mentor, Wright, a former Colorado College football and basketball player, said prior to the weekend games that he felt the Pirates were moving the ball too slowly giving the other team's defense time to set up. And this deliberate-type offense limited the number of shots the Pirates could get off in a contest. Wright wanted his guards to move the ball down faster and shoot more. This the Springs team did Sunday exploding for 72 attempts and making good 33 for a 45.8 percentage from the field.

Meanwhile, the Eagles had the same idea and connected on only 19 of 68 bombardments for a low 28.2 per cent.

After Mike Conway sank the first two-pointers seconds after the first tip-off, the Bucs were on their way to victory. With 4:31 left in the opening period the Eagles had the Pirates down, 8-7, but St. Mary's retaliated to take an 18-16 first quarter margin. The Pirates repeated that many points in the next period to take a 36-31 lead at intermission.

The visiting squad put the game on ice with a 25-point scoring in the third period and followed up with 17 points in the finale to wrap up its third straight DPL win.

Holland's Dijkstra Top Favorite for Figures

By LEE MEADE
INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Holland's Spoukje Dijkstra is such a favorite to win the ladies' figure skating at the Winter Olympic Games that one wag has suggested they just give the gold medal to her and let the other 28 competitors battle it out for second place.

The popular Dutch girl, who will celebrate her 22nd birthday

Tuesday, has completely dominated her division since finishing second to America's Carol Heiss in the 1960 Winter Games. She captured world titles by wide margins in both 1962 and 1963. World competition was canceled in 1961 following the jetliner crash which took the lives of the United States figure skating team.

Miss Dijkstra is considered unbeatable in school figures, which count 60 per cent toward the over-all championship, and is almost equally as strong in the freestyle skating.

Consequently just about every conversation on ladies' figure skating has started out with the question: "Who do you like for second place?"

Austria's Regine Heitzer, France's Nicole Hassler and Canada's Petra Burka are Miss Dijkstra's ladies-in-waiting and one of them is almost certain to wind up with the silver medal.

Wendy Griner of Canada, Sally Stapleford of Great Britain and Peggy Fleming of the United States appear to be next in line. Miwa Fukuhara of Japan, Jana Mrazkova of Czechoslovakia, Albertina Noyes of the United States, Christine Haigler of the United States and Diana Clifton-Peach of Great Britain are expected to fill the next five places.

Clay Holds Ham-on-Rye Title Over Liston at Airport 'Bout'

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer
MIAMI (UPI) — Cassius Clay's chances against world heavyweight champion Sonny Liston may be more than somewhat debatable but the Louisville Lip certainly holds the ham on rye title today.

Yon Cassius won this one hands down when he appeared at Miami Airport to ruin Liston's arrival for their world title bout at Miami Beach Convention Hall on Feb. 25. He overlooked the fact that of late he has rubbed the champ the wrong way.

Liston almost applied the mustard in a near clash in a corridor which could have ruined what may be boxing's biggest dollar scuffle.

Using words that should be confined to churches on a pleasant Sunday, manager Jack Nilon finally pulled Liston away on his way.

"Imagine," said Nilon, turning white on white, "if he had busted Clay's jaw right there with only 15 people on hand and nobody paying."

It could have been a publicity man's dream when Clay turned up at the airport decked out in a white ruffled shirt and tuxedo and began shouting "this city ain't big enough for the two of us and I'm gonna whup him right now."

Except that nobody in on this promotion has temerity to let Liston get within 10 feet of Clay. Young Gaseous went to New York last week and castigated Liston at a Black Muslim meeting for "training among white people."

When the plane landed, Clay whipped off his jacket and offered to fight "right now." Liston was spirited off in a VIP cart but Clay ran after him and almost caught up to him in the corridor.

"The whole fight almost went out the window right there," said red-faced panting Bill MacDonald, mopping his brow with a shaking hand that put up $650,000 to back the fight.

"Why don't the police get that guy out of here before they tear down the building?"

By this time Liston was in a private room at the airport and Nilon was demanding from a bystanding police sergeant that Clay be locked up for disturbing the peace.

Liston sat impassively in a big leather chair, staring with hard eyes at the door on which Clay was pounding with a hand carved gaudily painted cane. He clamped down with methodical anger on a piece of chewing gum.

The agitated Nilon finally corralled four policemen and Liston was escorted through a rear door to an automobile. They weren't trying to protect him. All those interested were concerned about was that he might knock the dollar spots off the Louisville Lip right then and there.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Little Juan Rodriguez and lanky Don January met at 18 holes today for the Lucky International Open golf championship—a playoff that was strictly a longshot possibility with one hole to go in Sunday's final regulation round.

Third-round leader January held a two-stroke lead over the colorful Puerto Rican with only 279, and U.S. Open champion Arnold Palmer eventually tied for third with Ray Floyd while Mason Rudolph and Gene Littler at 277. Bill Casper and Tommy Jacobs were at 278, Jon Gustin, Art Wall and Dave Ragan at 279, and U.S. Open champion Julius Boros, PGA and Masters king Jack Nicklaus and Jim Ferrier at 280.

Baar Easily Captures Aspen Race Sunday

ASPEN, Colo. (AP)—A Denver University senior from Aspen scored an easy victory Sunday in the Southern Rocky Mountain Ski Association's downhill race at Aspen Highlands.

Myke Baar, 21, won in 3:23.7 over the three-mile course. His time was nearly 5 seconds ahead of that of the runner-up Gerry Renaldi of Kimberley, B.C.

Victory in the women's competition over a shorter course went to Nancy Sise of Wellesley, Mass., racing for the Aspen Ski Club. She was a member of the U.S. team in the 1962 F.I.S. championships.

Renaldi's brother, Gerry, won the men's race at the 1962 F.I.S. championships.

It's Hard to Tell Girls From Boys on Ski Slope

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Scattered across the white slope, where the sun didn't reach, were dozens of skiers practicing for the Winter Olympics. They were laboriously making their way up the hill, sideways, one ski after the other, each step averaging nine inches or so.

It took each one more than 10 minutes to get to the top of the slope and only about 30 seconds to come down, whooshing around the slalom poles stuck in the snow, trailing little white clouds.

They were all bundled up in sweaters and caps and it was hard to tell they were girls, until you saw Barbi Henneberger.

Barbi is a young German girl, pretty by any standards and downright stunning in this company.

Barbi won a bronze medal at the 1960 Olympics. She is also camera shy.

"I'm busy," she said. "No pictures." And she made motions with her hands indicating her hair was a mess.

Then she scuttled away up the hill, crablike.

Three Norwegian girls came clambering off the ski lift, chattering away, their cheeks pink with the cold.

A photographer clicked at them, and Fredrikke Eger snatched off her cap and patted down her straw-colored hair, without much success.

Jugge Liv, a pretty thing with exotic eyes, laughed at her.

Stocky Astrid Sandvik, the star of the Norwegian team, rubbed her hands. "It's cold," she said.

The girls attached their skis and shuffled over to join a group, where a dozen young ladies were standing around and discussing the other girls up the hill.

Then they shrieked greetings to the girls who completed their practice runs and slipped over to join the party.

Russian girls in three sizes came churning down the hill, one behind the other. The first one down was medium, with a cute, round face and a big smile. Then came a slim little thing, followed by a lady truck driver who would have frightened Jimmy Hoffa.

They slid to a stop and waved to the others.

The Russians seemed to be strangers. Most of the other girls have skied against each other, week in and week out, for years.

Eventually the German girls unbuckled their skis and jumped into chairs on the ski lift for the half-mile ride down to the valley floor.

They bustled inside the hotel, pausing to talk to the six Austrian policemen standing outside.

The policemen were assigned to guard the Shah of Iran, who will occupy a 15-room suite on the top floor.

"We've guarded the Shah before," one said. "We also guarded Khrushchev."

"We like the Shah better. Last time he gave us each 5,000 shillings (about $200). From Khrushchev, we got a medal."

ASPEN, Colo. (AP)—A Denver University senior from Aspen scored an easy victory Sunday in the Southern Rocky Mountain Ski Association's downhill race at Aspen Highlands.

Myke Baar, 21, won in 3:23.7 over the three-mile course. His time was nearly 5 seconds ahead of that of the runner-up Gerry Renaldi of Kimberley, B.C.

Victory in the women's competition over a shorter course went to Nancy Sise of Wellesley, Mass., racing for the Aspen Ski Club. She was a member of the U.S. team in the 1962 F.I.S. championships.

Renaldi's brother, Gerry, won the men's race at the 1962 F.I.S. championships.

January-Rodriguez Playoff For Lucky Tourney Today

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Little Juan Rodriguez and lanky Don January met at 18 holes today for the Lucky International Open golf championship—a playoff that was strictly a longshot possibility with one hole to go in Sunday's final regulation round.

Third-round leader January held a two-stroke lead over the colorful Puerto Rican with only 279, and U.S. Open champion Arnold Palmer eventually tied for third with Ray Floyd while Mason Rudolph and Gene Littler at 277. Bill Casper and Tommy Jacobs were at 278, Jon Gustin, Art Wall and Dave Ragan at 279, and U.S. Open champion Julius Boros, PGA and Masters king Jack Nicklaus and Jim Ferrier at 280.

Loyola's Golden Year Is Losing Some Glitter

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The golden year of basketball at Loyola of Chicago might wind up gold-plated.

The glittering Ramblers began the season—the 50th anniversary of the start of intercollegiate basketball at the school—as the NCAA champions. With four of their five starters returning, the Ramblers were conceded to have one of the nation's top teams again.

The past week, though, has slowed the gold rush at Loyola to a stroll. Wichita, one of the two teams which beat the champions in 31 games last season, handed the Ramblers their second consecutive defeat 80-76 Saturday night.

Coupled with last Monday's 83-65 loss to Memphis State, the latest setback undoubtedly will drop Loyola from its number three ranking to near the bottom of the top ten and possibly out of it altogether.

Ironically, Loyola was the only losing top ten team Saturday night. Second-ranked Michigan State defeated Loyola 91-77; unbeaten Davidson, No. 4, kept rolling 105-73 against Wake Forest; and Kentucky, rated fifth, knocked over Georgia Tech 79-62.

Seventh-ranked Villanova overcame Penn 72-48; Duke, No. 8, squeezed by Tennessee 67-65 after two overtimes, and Oregon State, tied for 10th with Wichita, whipped Stanford 65-57.

UCLA, the nation's No. 1 team; sixth-ranked Vanderbilt; and unbeaten DePaul, ninth, didn't play.

The Wheatshockers added to Loyola's problems with acute accuracy from the foul line. After the Ramblers tied the game 63-63 with seven minutes remaining, Wichita dropped in 13 straight free throws. Hunter led all scorers with 36 points while Dave Stallworth had 29 for Wichita.

Michigan's Wolverines increased their Big Ten mark to 5-0 and its over-all record to 14-5 as sophomore Cazzie Russell tallied 34 points. Michigan led by only 40-38 at halftime, but pulled away from Michigan State in the second half.

Fred Hetzel sparked Davidson to its 15th straight triumph. He scored 29 points and snared 21 rebounds, more than the entire Wake Forest team.

Kentucky avenged an earlier loss to Georgia Tech but needed two quick baskets from Terry Mobley for insurance late in the second half. The Yellow Jackets, who led at the half 39-37, fell behind 61-48. Then they rallied and sliced the Wildcats' lead to seven points. That's when Mobley hit his clutch field goals.

In other games, Utah State whipped Brigham Young 70-50; Wyoming downed Denver 65-56; Ohio State defeated Purdue 98-87; Illinois beat Arizona State 97-78; and St. Louis edged Cincinnati 78-76.

Mississippi State knocked off Missouri State 81-66. Houston nosed out Baylor 61-60, Texas Western downed West Texas State 61-53, St. Bonaventure whipped Pan American 84-77 and Pitt walloped Army 86-44. Duquesne defeated Xavier of Ohio 83-76 Sunday.

Fines Against Walt Bellamy Lifts Bullet Ace's Average

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

That $400 in fines Baltimore Coach Ben Leonard levied against Walt Bellamy lowered his salary but raised his average.

Bellamy, fined $200 on each of two occasions earlier this month, has scored 166 points in a five-game spurt for a 33.2 average. And the Bullets have turned into the hottest team in the National Basketball Association with five consecutive victories.

Bellamy scored 42 points and grabbed 22 rebounds while Gus Johnson contributed 29 points and 21 rebounds as Baltimore rolled to a 131-120 triumph over Philadelphia Sunday. It was the highest point total reached by the Bullets in two years in the NBA.

In other games, Tom Heinsohn and Sam Jones led Eastern Division-leading Boston to a 115-102 victory over New York.

'Cats Hope to Start Comeback Against Sooner Quintet Tonight

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kansas State's Willie Murrell has one more chance to dazzle the fans in his native state tonight at Norman, Okla., and to lead his team's expected comeback in the Big Eight basketball title race.

The 6-foot-6 Murrell chased Colorado's Ken Charlton to the wire, just missing the league individual scoring crown last season. He's out in front this year with a 21.5 average. But Willie, a native of Taft, Okla., has only an eight-point average for his three trips to Oklahoma.

He made only seven points at Norman last year, and six and 11 in two trips to Stillwater, K-State lost two of the three games.

Murrell has had no trouble about Oklahoma teams in Manhattan and in the conference holiday tournament at Kansas City, however.

K-State needs a typical Murrell scoring job because the Wildcats stumbled to two defeats in their first three games and are tied for fifth at 1-2 compared to Oklahoma State's leading 3-0 record.

The Wildcats ran into the misfortune which often dogs champions of the pre-season tourney. But there is plenty of time for a comeback. They would be back in the race with a victory at Oklahoma and another over arch rival Kansas at Manhattan Saturday.

Oklahoma dropped to a seventh place tie with Iowa State at 1-3 by losing to the Cyclones 87-77 Saturday at Ames in the only conference game of the week. But the run-run Sooners led the league in scoring at 80.9 and are dangerous at home, as they proved by upsetting K-State at Norman last year.

The Sooners will be strengthened by the addition of Dave Barrett, 6-5, 202-pound South Carolina transfer eligible for the first time.

Joe Hurst's 19 points led the Iowa State victory. Butch Roberts had 19 for Oklahoma.

The Kansas-K-State game heads a full Saturday schedule. It includes Colorado at Oklahoma, Nebraska at Missouri and Iowa State at Oklahoma State. In non-league play, Drake is at Iowa State Tuesday and Missouri at Tulsa Wednesday.

Strampe Captures All-Star Title

DALLAS (AP)—Bob Strampe, virtually unknown before this event opened Jan. 13, championship in the All-Star bowling tournament, became a professional bowler after he was fired from his job as an aeronautical engineer.

Strampe, who now lives in Detroit, had taken a long weekend to compete in the American Bowling Congress tournament in St. Louis in 1959.

Then came an unexpected long distance telephone call from his boss in Minneapolis. His advice, Strampe recalls, was:

"Bow! good, because you are not working here any more."

Strampe, then 27 and newly married, decided to turn to the only other thing he knew—bowling.

Since that fateful decision the slender, balding Strampe has become a top ranking pro with an annual income he says is around $15,000.

Strampe won bowling's big prestige title by shooting a fat 257-225-203—685 series against a quickly-wilting Tommy Tuttle.

The chubby, likeable little newcomer from Rural Hill, N.C., mustered a 220-170-226—616 series, but it was really no contest after the fifth frame of the middle game.

The runnin' Utes are now the WAC's No. 1 team with a 15-3 season record and 2-0 in conference matters, but they face two of the tougher non-league foes in Big Six Conference Stanford tonight and Utah State Saturday at Salt Lake City.

The Utes continued their winning ways last Saturday, getting 23 points from Doug Moon and strong rebounding from George Fisher to dump Colorado State University 78-68.

No. 2 in the WAC is New Mexico. The Lobos, featuring one of the nation's best defenses, are 13-2 and 2-1. They've allowed opponents an average of 56 points per game.

The Lobos also are ready to move up if the Utes stumble, as their schedule is less difficult than Utah's this week. They meet Eastern New Mexico tonight and Panhandle, Okla., A&M Saturday at Albuquerque. The Lobos and Arizona (9-7 and 0-2) were idle last week.

Wyoming (8-7 and 2-2) was the other WAC dinner last Saturday. The unpredictable Cowboys dumped Denver 65-56.

In other games, Arizona State University (6-9 and 0-2) continued its losing ways, falling 97-78 to Illinois at Chicago. It was the defending WAC champion's eighth straight defeat this season.

Brigham Young University (8-7 and 1-1) lost 105-90 to power-during the finals. He had been eliminated from the tournament before the semifinals.

Mrs. Carter poured in a 247-256-180—683 series as she easily defeated Evelyn Teal of Miami, Fla.

Mrs. Teal, 40, who has a 21-year old daughter at the University of Florida, rolled a brilliant 184-181-244—609 series and won $3,000.

house Utah State. Wayne Estes, Troy Collier and LeRoy Walker pumped in 79 Aggie points. John Fairchild, the WAC's top scorer with a 27 point per game average, had 23 for the Cougars.

Other non-conference games involving WAC teams this week: Tuesday—Los Angeles Loyola at A-State.

Thursday—Arizona at Arizona State College.

Friday—Utah State at BYU Saturday—Southern California at Arizona, Denver at BYU, Texas Western at A-State and Wyoming at Air Force Academy.

Tigers Play Hastings Two Games

By United Press International

Colorado Mines is 2-4 in Rocky Mountain Conference basketball play this week and 7-8 for the season, but the Ore-diggers from Golden lead the nation's small colleges in defense.

In 14 games, Mines has given up an average of 53.6 points per game. Mines see action again Feb. 4.

Elsewhere in the RMC, Western State moves into Alamosa this weekend for a pair of games with Adams State.

Adams State leads the loop with a 4-0 state and Western State is fresh from a split with Colorado State College which knocked the Bears from the unbeaten RMC ranks.

All other action this week is non-league. Colorado College, still looking for its first win of the season, plays host to Hastings (Neb.) College Tuesday and Wednesday. Ft. Lewis A&M takes on Colorado State College Friday and Saturday in Greeley.

Montreal, Chicago Still Tied
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bobby Hull, Earl Ingarfield and Ed Johnston are three National Hockey League performers who seldom travel in the same company, but they shared top billing after Sunday night's NHL activity.

Hull, Chicago's super-star, came up with a big goal to give the Hawks a come-from-behind 2-2 tie with Montreal and maintain a first-place deadlock between the two clubs.

Ingarfield, center on the New York Rangers' checking line, scored the decisive goal in the Rangers' 3-2 must victory over Detroit.

And Johnston, Boston's much-scorer-upon goalie, registered his second straight shutout as the lowly Bruins dazzled defending champion Toronto, 2-0.

Hull, headed for a record in goal production, collected No. 32 with less than three minutes to play and capped Chicago's late rally. The Hawks, trailing 2-0 and in danger of losing the top spot for the first time since last Oct. 13, struck twice in the final seven minutes.

Defenseman Pierre Pilote cut the deficit to 2-1 at 13:18 and Hull netted Bill Hay's rebound at 17:36 to even the count.

In other games Saturday Detroit topped Chicago 5-3 and New York tied Toronto 1-1.

MacArthur Memorial Opened in Norfolk

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — This port city has opened its memorial to General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, hero of two world wars.

Norfolk's century-old building, which has been converted into a memorial building, was formally opened Sunday on the general's 84th birthday. Formal opening will be on May 30 with MacArthur in attendance.

Former Mayor W. Fred Duckworth, who heads the MacArthur Memorial Foundation, said a nationwide campaign will begin soon to collect more than $5 million to build a second memorial building; establish a $3-million endowment fund to establish history professorships throughout the nation, and erect an American history building at Old Dominion College here.

Deaths

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Don Delano Tullis, 85, a retired Presbyterian minister whose column "Everyday Religion," appeared in several newspapers, died Sunday. He had served as executive secretary of the Federation of Churches in Buffalo, N.Y., and Cleveland, Ohio, and was pastor of Tourist Church in Daytona Beach from 1936 until his retirement in 1947. He was born in Marietta, Ohio.

EASTON, Pa. (AP) — Dr. Herbert Rogers, 73, retired head of Lafayette College's Psychology Department, died Saturday. He had taught at Yale and the University of Minnesota before coming to Lafayette in 1924. He retired in 1957.

LONDON (AP) — Emilie Hawkes Peacocke, 80, one of Britain's first women journalists, died Saturday. In 1904 she became the first woman reporter on the Daily Express and when she joined the Daily Telegraph in 1928 she was its first woman executive.

NEW YORK (AP) — Marian H. Distler, 45, founder and president of Folkways Records, a company that recorded authentic folk music, died Saturday of pneumonia. She was born in New York.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Abraham D. Braun, 57, an industrialist and real estate investor who planned to erect a $16-million, 39-story hotel in downtown Milwaukee, died Saturday of a stroke. Braun took part in the development of a half dozen shopping centers in the Milwaukee area. He was born in Chicago.

BARNYARD SOCIETY
Hens laying eggs may be affected by that age old practice of "keeping up with the Jones." A report from Pennsylvania State University indicates that a pullet lays better if housed in a pen containing only other pullets like her in age, size and development. New pullets may be retarded by the "bossism" of older hens.

Heaps of Cash Is Found in Shabby Home

SHAWANO, Wis. (UPI) — A sheriff's officer discovered something when he went to the rundown home of an elderly recluse.

He discovered money. There was money strewn across the floor. There was money in a shoe box. And there were securities scattered upstairs.

The cash and securities added up to $275,000. Undersheriff Frank Lemhouse came upon the mounds of cash Friday when he went to the shabby home of Henry Krohn, 72, a bachelor and retired railroad worker.

Krohn was not at home. But Lemhouse said he found nearly $10,000 in cash and uncashed checks on the living room floor, $31,000 in the shoe box and well over $200,000 worth of securities upstairs.

Krohn was found later, wandering about the neighborhood. The dog was taken to a local pound.

Authorities said Krohn's home had a television set and tape recorder but no electricity. Krohn cooked on a wood-burning stove.

Mental and physical examinations were scheduled for Krohn.

Britain Did Not Plan To Go to Zanzibar

LONDON (AP) — A Commonwealth relations office spokesman said today there had never been any intention of Britain intervening in the internal affairs of Zanzibar following the coup there.

He made the comment following a Soviet warning to Britain against any "forcible acts" toward the new left-wing regime in the spice island off the East African coast.

SLEEPING THRU SPACE

Our future astronauts may be able to hibernate during the months or years spent in traveling from the earth to other planets. But before this is possible, scientists must learn more about this mysterious, deep sleep that slows down life to the point where it is almost at an end.

Except for hamsters, man never has been able to induce hibernation in laboratory animals, even though the conditions are duplicated to simulate the coming of autumn. They seem to have an internal timer that resists all efforts to keep them awake on the approach of cold weather. Researchers have tried placing them in a warm temperature with the lights on, and providing all the food needed. But the hibernators refuse to give up their Rip Van Winkle role.

The idea of hibernating until spring is attractive to many of us who are subjected to sub-zero temperatures and icy blasts from the north during a long winter. Some can go south, like the swallows; the rest of us add to our coat, like the caribou.

But we do not belong to the few species of mammals that are able to hibernate at will. We cannot behave like the woodchucks and other rodents who are able to abandon their warm-blooded state and sink into a torpor until the time comes to rise and shine.

Research is being conducted because hibernation has advantages in space travel. With respiration, heart rate, and circulation down to almost nothing.

the need for oxygen and nourishment is lessened. This means less space will be required for air storage and food, making the ship lighter.

Meanwhile, the astronaut will be shooting thru space in a comalike sleep on this long, monotonous journey, until he awakens at his destination. Our future spacemen may not need to make the scientific recordings that have proved helpful in our orbiting experiences to date. It will take many years to reach certain planets, and sleep is preferable to looking at hundreds of dials and instruments or playing gin rummy. In addition, most of the data can be relayed to earth via a complicated telemetric system.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Scarred Lungs

E. D. writes: I had pleurisy three years ago and still have pain. Is this normal?

Reply
No. Some persons who recover from pleurisy develop chest pain prior to a storm or during periods of high humidity. In this respect, scar tissue in the lungs behaves like the damaged lining of an arthritic joint.

Know Your Limits
L. J. writes: Should a person with low blood pressure push himself to the limit to get things done?

Reply
Not if hypertension is part of his constitutional make-up. These people do better when they learn their limitations. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on low blood pressure.

Thyroid and The Heart
M. K. writes: Can a goiter damage the heart?

Reply
Not if you refer to ordinary enlargement of the thyroid. A lazy or an overactive gland may affect the heart, especially when these conditions are serious and of long duration.

Enlarged Liver
P. S. writes: Could gallstones cause the liver to get very big?

Reply
Yes, provided the infection associated with gallstones spreads to the liver.

Premature Births
Mrs. G. writes: I have two children who were full term babies. Then I had two premature. Do you think if I became pregnant again I would have a third premature?

Reply
Time will tell. Meanwhile, ask your physician to make blood and other tests to try to determine the cause of these premature deliveries.

Night Cramps
R. T. writes: Could arthritis of the spine cause cramps in the legs at night?

Reply
Yes, that is one cause. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on cramping of the extremities.

Different Glands
B. D. W. writes: Is thyroid disease the same as parathyroid disease?

Reply
No. The four pea-sized parathyroid glands are located under the thyroid in the neck and are concerned mainly with calcium metabolism.

Heart Murmur
M. S. writes: Can leakage of the heart be caused by nervousness?

Reply
No. Many persons become nervous when they learn a murmur exists, even though the heart is otherwise normal. Today's Health Hint Fatigued? Don't waste energy on minor irritations.

BRAINY BRAWN
GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The image of a football player as big and dumb doesn't hold true at the University of Florida. The top 38 gridgers earned a 2.28 grade average from a possible 4.0 in the first trimester. The high man was tackle John Whitley, who earned his second straight 4.0 in a prelaw course. There were no academic casualties among varsity or freshmen gridgers.

FULL COLONEL—Lt. Col. M. C. Morphey becomes a full colonel under the guiding hands of Mrs. Morphey and U.S. Air Force Brig. Gen. Arthur G. Salisbury, North American Air Defense Command director of operations. Col. Morphey is chief of the commands control branch at NORAD and has been assigned here since July, 1961. Prior to coming to NORAD the 22 year veteran career USAF officer was commander of the 445th Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Wurtsmith Air Force Base in Michigan. Morphey, a veteran of World War II combat flying, wears the Distinguished Flying Cross with 16 Oak Leaf Clusters. He, his wife and four children reside at 2707 Holiday Ln.

Broadcasters Will Talk About Ads

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The board of directors of the National Association of Broadcasters convenes today for a week-long meeting that will consider, among other things, the industry's position on cigarette advertising.

NAB President LeRoy Collins, former governor of Florida, also will attend. His presence will be spiced by the question of whether he wants to keep his $75,000 job or run for public office.

The Television Code of Ethics Board recommended two changes in the NAB's cigarette advertising policy in the wake of the government report linking smoking and lung cancer. They warn against advertising that makes smoking appeal to young people or advertising that makes smoking appear to be healthy.

OLD HELPS NEW

NEW YORK (UPI) — An invention from 180 years in the past has been resurrected to serve the needs of the space age. Hot-air balloons, first flown in 1783, are being tested by Honeywell as a possible means of recovering space vehicles. The balloons will hover in the air with this payload instead of allowing the valuable equipment to fall into the sea or be smashed on land.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

© 1964 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

QUESTION: I hear you and other ministers talk about making a "decision". We make many decisions every day. Just what sort of a decision do you mean? J. M.

ANSWER: Yes, there are many secondary decisions we make every day, but each of us has the capacity to make that one big, eternal decision: our decision for Christ.

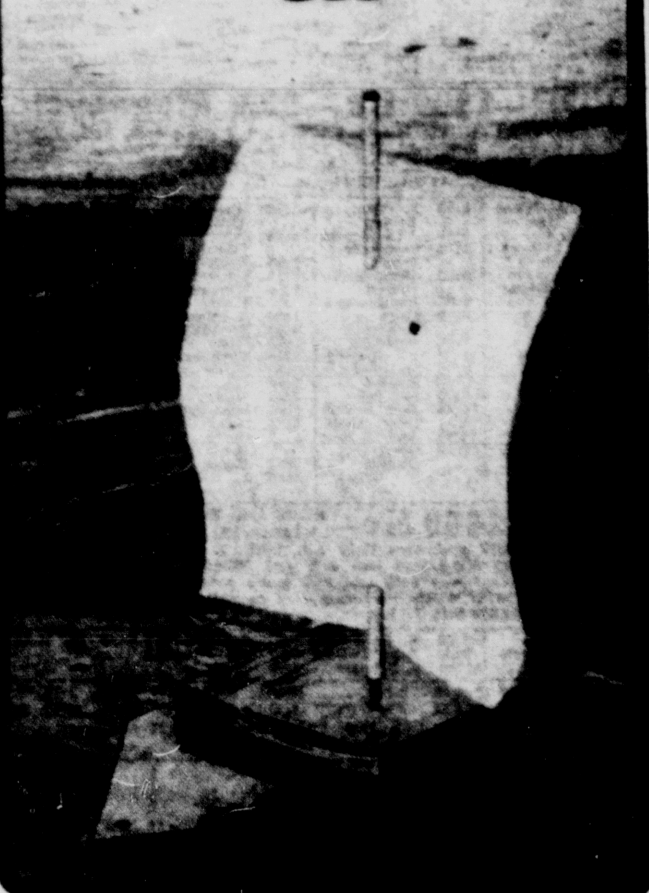

This power to choose sets man apart from inanimate things and animals. Water deserves no credit for being wet, or flour for being white. Only those who make choices have power over their destiny.

If we are to live a higher life in Christ, we must decide against a lower life. If we choose to live a lower life, we must decide against the higher life. Jesus said: "No man can serve two masters." A lot of us would like to live a combination of high and low, tasting of the best of two worlds. But the Bible says it is impossible. "I have set before thee this day life and good, death and evil; in that I implore you this day to love the Lord thy God, to walk in his ways, and keep His commandments, that thou mayest live . . . but if thine heart turn away, so that thou wilt not hear . . . you shall surely perish." Every day we wrestle with this "decision", and no one can make it but us.

Saturn Launch May Be Postponed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An explosion of a rocket motor during a test in California threatens possible postponement of the Saturn 1 launching scheduled here Monday.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported today a stage similar to the second stage of the Saturn 1 blew up Friday on a test stand at the Douglas Aircraft Co. facility at Sacramento, Calif.

The explosion occurred as preparations were being made to ground fire the hydrogen-fueled engines in what a space agency spokesman termed "an additional confidence test" for Monday's Saturn 1 flight.

The Saturn 1, believed to be the world's most powerful rocket, carries a live second stage for the first time. It will attempt to launch the heaviest satellite ever sent aloft, weighing nearly 19 tons.

NASA said cause of the explosion, which wrecked the test stand, was being evaluated to determine if Monday's shot should be delayed. A decision was expected later today.

Meanwhile, plans to fuel the 164-foot tall Saturn 1 today were held up.

London plans more parking.

Taxpayer Asked To Foot Fun Bill At Disneyland

WASHINGTON (AP)—A California defense contractor which gave 12,000 employees and their families a free night of fun and games at Disneyland is asking the taxpayers to foot the bill.

Neither the Navy nor the firm, Aerojet General Corp., would say how much money was involved, but the Navy said no decision on the request is likely for some time.

Aerojet has extensive cost plus fixed fee contracts with both the Defense Department and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. And it included the cost of the employees' night out at Disneyland last Oct. 19 as an employee relations expenditure under its contract with the Navy.

A Navy spokesman said: "In the past Aerojet has been allowed to include the cost of a small annual picnic as overhead costs in their contracts. Such allowances, if any, are based on a test of reasonableness per armed forces procurement regulations."

"In the past the Navy has allowed certain employee relations costs in their contracts as a justified cost of doing business."

An Aerojet spokesman in New York said the Disneyland night took the place of the annual picnic because the firm's employment had grown to the point where it was difficult to find grounds for an outing.

"With Disneyland normally closed during the evening in the fall, but open to large groups at off-season rates, a visit there seemed to be a highly acceptable solution," he said, adding:

"In fact, cost per attendee at Disneyland was less than the costs per attendee at the 1962 picnic in Brookside Park, Pasadena."

"The annual picnic in any case is considered by Aerojet to be a fringe benefit for its employees, just as medical insurance, vacations and holidays. The armed service procurement regulations provide for activities of benefit to employee morale."

CITED FOR SERVICE—Army Sgt. I.C. Benjamin C. Hill (center) is awarded the Army Commendation Medal for "exceptionally meritorious service" shortly before his departure from Army Air Defense Command Headquarters for Germany. Maj. Gen. D. B. Johnson, ARADCOM deputy commanding general, made the presentation to the 36-year-old Nashville, Tenn. soldier at a brief ceremony attended by sergeant Hill's wife, Kornelia. Since July, 1959, Hill has served as non-commissioned officer in charge of the Officers Branch of the headquarters' Adjutant General Section, and was cited for his proficiency and thorough knowledge of policies, procedures and operations. The Hills have resided in Colorado Springs at 3316 Pennsylvania Ave. They will leave the Pikes Peak Area on Tuesday (Jan. 28) with their three children and will go directly to their new assignment in Mannheim, Germany.

U.S. First to Achieve Competitive Atom Cost

CASPER, Wyo. (UPI)—The Press Association of the United States now has an operation more than a million kilowatts of nuclear capacity, compared to a little over 100,000 for Russia.

Person said this accomplishment was achieved despite the fact nuclear power must compete with the conventional power technology of the United States, which he said was "perhaps the most sophisticated in the world."

Nevertheless, Person said, it probably will be at least 1970 before there is any nuclear power plant construction in the Rocky Mountain area, barring further breakthroughs in construction and fuel technology.

"Current cost estimates for large nuclear plants average between 140 to 200 per kilowatt of installed capacity," he said, "this is $40 to $70 higher per kilowatt of capacity than the average new large, coal-fired plant."

The long-delayed civil rights bill is scheduled to reach the House floor Friday, but voting on amendments won't begin until next week.

In the Senate, the Finance Committee is hurrying its detailed report on the $11.5-billion tax cut bill in hopes of getting it to the floor by Friday, too. It is more likely that debate will start next Monday.

It was learned that Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the second-ranking Democrat on the Finance Committee, will have the job of piloting the tax cut through the Senate. Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., voted against the bill in committee and decided to let Long handle it on the floor.

Leaders hope to pilot the civil rights bill to House passage and the tax cut measure through the Senate by Feb. 11. Both will continue to dominate the action in Congress for weeks after that.

The civil rights bill is expected to set off a full-scale filibuster in the Senate, and the tax bill must go through long House-Senate negotiations to work out differences between the versions passed by each body.

If there is little going on in the main tent this week, the Robert G. Baker hearings in the Senate may provide more action.

The investigation of the activities of the former secretary to Senate Democrats resumes Tuesday with Max H. Karl, president of the Mortgage Guarantee Insurance Corp., of Milwaukee, Wis., in the witness chair.

The firm's stock soared spectacularly after it received a favorable tax ruling from the Internal Revenue Service, and Baker is among those who profited.

The Joint Economic Committee will continue its hearings on President Johnson's economic message, questioning Budget Director Kermit Gordon today and Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon Tuesday.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara goes before the House Armed Services Committee today to start hearings on the Defense Department's authorization bill. The sessions will be closed.

Nominations to Be Asked for Pacific Chief

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is expected to ask all three services for nominations when the time comes to pick a new U.S. commander for the vast Pacific theater.

This command traditionally has been held by a Navy admiral. Any change from that would certainly meet strong objections from the Navy.

The time of decision may be only a few months away.

Adm. Harry D. Felt, Pacific commander for nearly six years will reach the statutory retirement age of 62 on July 1. His tour of duty could be extended for two years but this appears unlikely at this time.

Reports have circulated for some time that the Pacific Command, embracing millions of square miles of ocean and some of the most critical areas of the Far East, might in the future be rotated among the Army, Navy and Air Force.

One highly placed source said he believes McNamara will try to get the best man available, regardless of service. He said he expects McNamara to ask the Army, Navy and Air Force to nominate their candidates.

A number of possibilities were mentioned, among them Gen. Jacob Smart, the Air Force commander in chief in the Pacific; Adm. Ulysses S. G. Sharp Jr., commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet; and Gen. Hamilton Howze, U.S. Army commander in Korea.

Another name mentioned is that of Adm. Claude V. Rickets, vice chief of naval operations, who recently made a month-long swing through the area.

Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze recently summed up his service's viewpoint this way: "The Pacific command belongs to the Navy. It is an ocean area with problems that the Navy is best equipped to handle."

Falling in the Pacific commander's area of responsibility are such periodic crisis points as Korea, Formosa and South-east Asia, including South Viet Nam.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

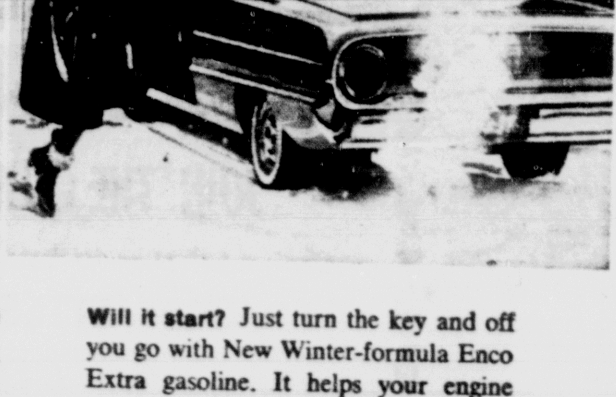

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Will it start? Just turn the key and off you go with New Winter-formula Enco Extra gasoline. It helps your engine warm up faster, too, in stop-and-go driving—gives you better mileage.

SO YOU THINK YOUR ENGINE IS COLD — this one's running in ice!
We take our test engines down to temperatures so low that an engineer's breath turns into instant snow — just to be sure that it can't get too cold for New Winter-formula Enco Extra gasoline. You get more dependable performance in any kind of weather at the Enco sign of Happy Motoring!
